INFORMATION SECTION

Within the next few years a series of approximately 10 books will replace the present CCDO Volume 1. The first book in this series, Construction Occupations — Major Group 87, is being published under separate cover in conjunction with this CCDO GUIDE.

Many new and distinctive features will appear in the revised CCDO. For example, only one occupational title, known as the CCDO Title, will appear with each occupational description. All other job and occupational titles will appear in the Index and be known as Additional Titles. Aptitude, interest and temperament ratings have now been appended to each occupational description to eliminate the necessity of referring to Volume 2 for this data. Also, apprenticeable occupations have been assigned their own unique seven digit code, occupational title and reference definition.

In January, 1977, the CCDO *Manual of Sex-Free Occupational Titles was released. A large variety of actual job titles will appear in the CCDO Index as they are still found in the world of work, however this does not infer that these titles are officially recognized by the CCDO. Future CCDO publications, including the GUIDE and Major Group 87 — Construction Occupations, will be free of references that denote sex.

Major Group 61 — Service Occupations will represent the second book and Major Groups 71, 73, 75 and 77 known as the "Extractive Occupations" will be the third book in the new CCDO series. Each of these books will also have its own distinctive colour and design and they will be available in the spring of 1978.

New publications related to CCDO called ACT (Access A Career By Traits) are currently being developed. ACT is a series of employment and career counselling tools which make it possible to access occupations using various occupational characteristics. The access variables include combinations of GATB Aptitude Levels, Interests, Temperaments, Worker Functions, Holland Codes, GED and SVP. ACT can be used for career exploration, counselling and placement.

The initial technical devices used in ACT are overlay and key-sort. Each ACT will contain approximately 300 occupations. It is easy to use, and can be self administered.

All occupations in the CCDO have now been converted to Holland Codes and will be contained in a special publication. This publication will comprise a list of the occupations and a 3-letter Holland code for each occupation. Another list will contain occupations grouped according to each combination of Holland Codes. In this way, occupations can be assessed according to the needs of the exploration process.

As can be seen, a vigorous program is underway to keep users of the CCDO up-to-date in the ever changing world of work and of making it easier for them to make full use of this important source of occupational data.

*Manual of Sex-Free Occupational Titles — This CCDO publication is available from Publication Services, Occupational and Career Analysis and Development Branch, Department of Manpower and Immigration, Ottawa, K1A 0J9.

INTRODUCTION SECTION

THE CLASSIFICATION STRUCTURE

The CCDO is a systematic and comprehensive arrangement of occupational descriptions, reflecting the work performed by the Canadian people. These descriptions represent a summary of the significant activities of a number of similar jobs that may be found in different establishments or industries. The significant duties, or the "kind of work performed", act as the basic principle for classifying occupations.

The classification structure consists of four levels of occupational categorization, each providing successively finer detail:

1. The Major Group
2. The Minor Group
3. The Unit Group
4. The Individual Occupations

In the classification structure, there are 23 Major Groups which represent occupations identified only on a very broad basis. Each Major Group has a two-digit code number, a title, and a definition which summarizes the occupational activities in the group.

The Major Groups are subdivided into 81 Minor Groups, each with distinguishing characteristics. Each Minor Group has a three-digit code number, a title, and a summarizing definition which may contain notes required to explain unusual factors.

The third level of aggregation is comprised of 498 Unit Groups, which represent a collection of more closely related occupations. Unit Groups have a four-digit code number, a title, and a definition. Unit Group definitions conform to the same pattern as those of the Major and Minor Groups, but are more specific in their description of occupational activity.

Finally, the Unit Groups are broken down into some 6,700 individual, unique occupations, and occupation being the narrowest category specifically identified in the classification system. An individual occupation is identified by a seven-digit code number, and a title, such as 8784-114 PLASTERER. The last three digits (-114), called the terminal digits, provide the unique code number within the classification structure for each occupation. Terminal digits also determine the sequence of occupations within a Unit Group, for occupations are normally arranged in a descending order of complexity as determined by training time requirements. Terminal digits begin with -110, and are normally spaced to allow for the future inclusion of additional occupations.

While classification into Major, Minor or Unit Groups is usually based on a similarity of work performed, supplementary criteria are also used to further clarify the nature of the work performed.

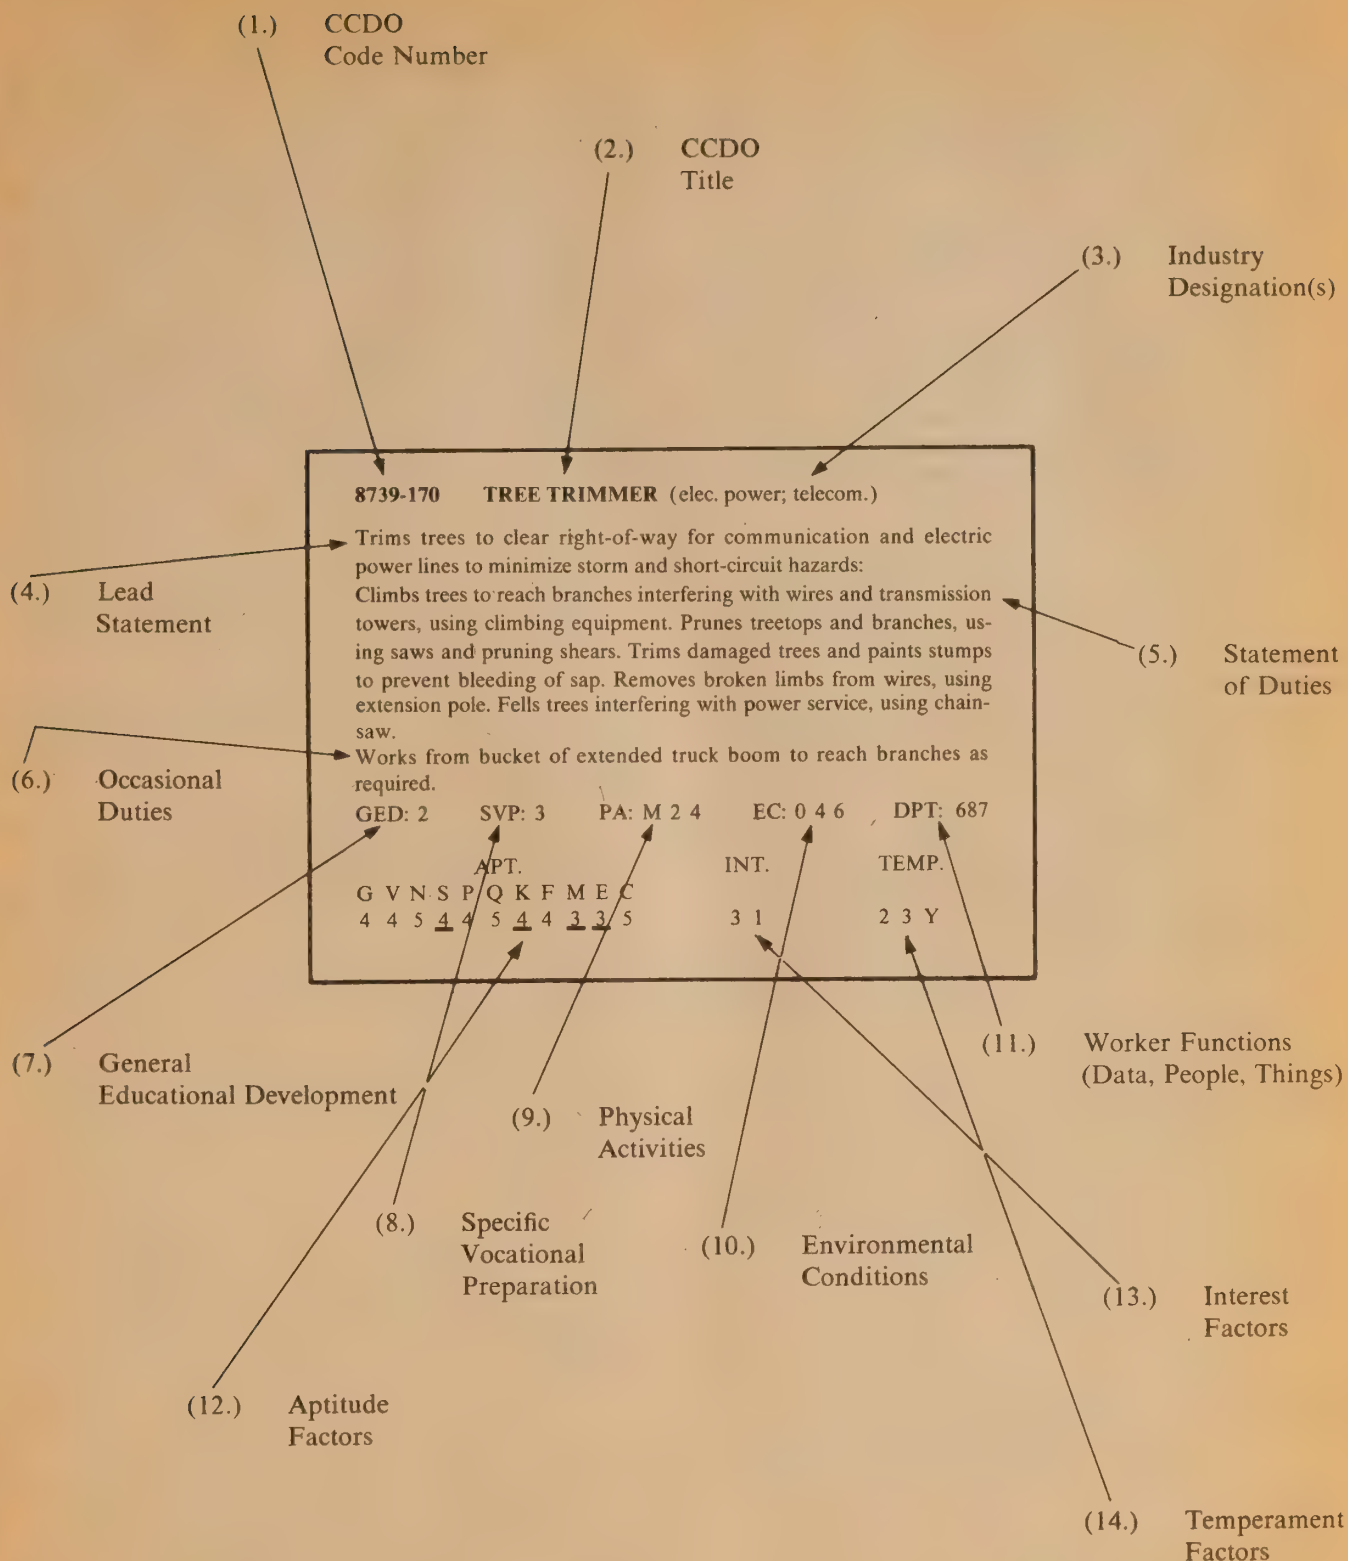

Similarity of services provided, or the assembly and repair of similar articles are frequently used to aid in classifying occupational activity. Occupations may be grouped according to subject matter, as are chemists, because the work is complementary, as is the case with doctors and nurses, or because their functions are closely related. Other occupations are differentiated largely by the complexity of the work, or by the degree of responsibility involved, such as managers, foremen/women, supervisors and the like. Processes involved, materials used or produced, and equipment used are further illustrations of the criteria used to determine the classification structure.

THE OCCUPATIONAL DESCRIPTION

The term "occupation" refers to a number of jobs which have the same basic work content, even though the duties may vary somewhat, and though they may be found in different establishments or industries. To clarify this, the occupational descriptions used in the CCDO consist of a number of different components, which collectively provide a realistic representation of the essential nature of the occupation. An actual CCDO occupational description, in which each component has been numbered and labelled, appears on the following page.

THE CCDO OCCUPATIONAL DESCRIPTION

NOTE: Information concerning components of this occupational description starts on the following page and can be readily identified by the number preceding each title.

- (1) The CCDO Code Number The full seven-digit code number (8739-170) indicates the exact location of the occupation within the classification structure.
- (2) The CCDO Title This is the title by which the occupation is most commonly known in Canada, or which is most descriptive of the occupation. Called the "CCDO Title", it may occasionally assume an inverted form, such as TRIMMER, TREE. To ensure easy access to the occupational description corresponding to a known occupational title, one can use wither the Index accompanying this GUIDE, or the smaller Index provided with each Major Group book.
- (3) The Industry Designation(s) for an occupation appear in abbreviated form in brackets immediately following the CCDO title. The use of industry designations helps to differentiate between occupations with the same title, but with different occupational activity. In addition, most industry designations offer further occupational information by indicating the type of economic activity in which the occupation is found. Should an occupation have two or three industry designations, they will be listed in alphabetical order following the CCDO title. If an occupation has four or more industry designations, the designation used is any industry (any ind.).
- (4) The Lead Statement is a concise description of the nature and purpose of the occupation. It describes the principal duties of the worker, and gives a general indication of how the occupation differs from other occupations.
- (5) The Statement of Duties is necessarily a broad description of the nature and scope of the work involved. This will not always coincide exactly with the duties required in every job situation, but it does indicate, either directly or by inference, what the workers normally do, how, and why they do it. On occasion, the duties of a number of workers will be described, but each worker may not necessarily perform all of these duties. In such cases, the lead statement will indicate this by prefacing the statement of duties with the phrase "performs any combination of the following duties:". If fulfilling the duties of an occupation involves the use of more than one work method, this will be indicated through the use of the phrase "using one of the following methods:".
- (6) Occasional Duties are normally described at the end of the statement of duties, and are identified through the use of an "as, if, when or where required" clause.
- (7) General Educational Development embraces those aspects of education (both formal and informal) which contribute to a worker's reasoning development, the ability to follow instructions, and the acquisition of such tool knowledge as mathematical and language skills. The following table reflects the approximate duration of formal schooling for GED.

GED Levels	Approximate Duration of Schooling
6	17 years plus
5	13 to 16 years
4	11 to 12 years
3	9 to 10 years
2	6 to 8 years
1	Up to 6 years

A complete explanation of GED is included in Appendix A of the CCDO GUIDE.

When interpreting the GED level, it must be remembered that informal educative aspects such as previous work experiences, self-study, travelling, and such avocational pursuits as hobbies and leisure activities must also be considered, if it is to be occupationally significant. The GED levels given in the CCDO are not absolute: they must be regarded only as a guide to the approximate level required to attain average, satisfactory work performance.

- (8) Specific Vocational Preparation is an expression of the time required to learn the techniques and skills needed for satisfactory performance in an occupation. SVP and GED are separate, although related factors, which are interdependent in their functions: both must be considered in determining the training time requirements of a given occupation. SVP does not include the time required for orientation of a worker to a new job for which he/she is fully qualified. However, it does include any specific preparation which is occupationally significant, whether it is acquired through universities, vocational schools, apprenticeship, on-the-job training, or previous work experience.

Appendix B of the CCDO GUIDE explains the various numerical levels used to express SVP. The various forms of Specific Vocational Preparation is also described.

- (9) Physical Activities The physical activities designation (PA) is used to indicate the significant physical demands placed on a worker by an occupation. A detailed explanation of the terms used in assigning the PA designation can be found in Appendix C of the CCDO GUIDE.
- (10) Environmental Conditions The environmental conditions designation (EC) is used to indicate the significant physical surroundings of a worker. Because each individual occupation is governed by a unique set of circumstances, a thorough knowledge of both PA and EC ratings is vital in order to accommodate the possible physical limitations of a worker. A complete description of the various factors which govern EC ratings can be found in Appendix D of the CCDO GUIDE.
- (11) Worker Functions This designation provides a standard terminology for use in summarizing what a worker does on the job. It is based on the premise that every worker is required to function in relation to Data, People, and Things (DPT) at various levels. The functional relationships are expressed by means of verbs descriptive of the basic occupational activity, and fall into three broad categories of descending complexity, as follows: A complete explanation of the verbs used to express to DPT relationship is given in Appendix E of the CCDO GUIDE.
- (12) Aptitude Factors The CCDO defines aptitudes as the specific capacity or potentiality of an individual required in order to facilitate the learning of the skills needed for a task or job duties. Eleven aptitude factors are used, each one having a numerical rating which expresses the level achieved by a corresponding percentage of the working population:

1. Upper 10%
2. Upper third exclusive of the highest 10%
3. Middle third
4. Lowest third exclusive of the lowest 10%
5. Lowest 10%

When these levels are underscored, as in 44544544335, they are considered to be significant for satisfactory job performance.

Definitions of the eleven aptitude factors are provided in Appendix F of this GUIDE.

- (13) Interest Factors are regarded as being significant qualification requirements of an occupation, for numerous studies have illustrated a strong correlation between job satisfaction and a positive interest in the job. For CCDO purposes, an interest is defined as a tendency to become absorbed in an experience through concern in or attraction for certain types of work experiences or activities. There are five pairs of bipolar factors used to rate interest, grouped so that a positive concern for one factor of a pair will usually result in rejection of the other factor of that pair.

Interest factor definitions appear in Appendix F of the section on aptitudes.

- (14) Temperament Factors Complementing the interest factor ratings, and designed to be used in conjunction with them, are ratings of temperament. The CCDO defines temperament as being those personality qualities which remain fairly constant, and reveal a person's characteristic response in terms of a preference, inclination or disposition. Temperament traits are evaluated through the use of twelve factors which are defined in terms of actual work situations. Taken singly or in any combination, they produce a temperament profile indicative of the qualities required of a workers by a given occupation.

Definitions of the twelve temperament factors appear as the last section in Appendix F.

SPECIAL GROUPING PROCEDURES

For various reasons, it is not always possible to provide a group with appropriate homogeneity for all occupations which must be classified. Several different residual groups have been created to accommodate those occupations which cannot be satisfactorily classified in other groups of the structure. These residual groups are:

1. Residual Major Group 99
  2. Residual Minor Groups
  3. Residual Unit Groups
  4. Seven-Digit Residual Groups
  5. Special Unit Groups
  6. Special n.e.c. Groups
1. Residual Major Group 99 Major Group 99 — "Occupations Not Elsewhere Classified" — enjoys the dual distinction of being the only residual Major Group, as well as being the last Major Group in the CCDO. It is used to classify those occupations which cannot be properly classified in any other Major Group of the structure. It is also used to classify occupations having duties which are classifiable in more than one Major Group.
2. Residual Minor Groups Residual Minor Groups, of which there are only about a dozen in the whole of the CCDO, enable classification of two types of occupations:
- (a) Occupations which, although belonging in the same Major Group, cannot be classified in one of its other Minor Groups;
  - (b) Occupations whose duties are pertinent to more than one Minor Group.

With few exceptions, a Residual Minor Group has a three-digit code number, composed of its Major Group code number and ending in the digit "9". The group title of a Residual Minor Group is identical to that of its Major Group, but is preceded by the word "Other": for example, Residual Minor Group 239 — "Other Occupations in Social Sciences and Related Fields".

3. Residual Unit Groups are the obvious extension of Residual Minor Groups. They serve the same function of further classifying those occupations which belong in the same Minor Group, but cannot be classified in one of its other Unit Groups. Similarly, they provide for classification of those occupations whose duties are pertinent to more than one of these Unit Groups. A Residual Unit Group can be identified by a four-digit code number which ends in "9". Its title is the same as that of the Minor Group, with the added notation, "n.e.c.", meaning "not elsewhere classified". An example of a Residual Unit Group is 2399

— "Other Occupations in Social Services and Related Fields, n.e.c.".

4. Seven-Digit Residual Groups The Seven-Digit Residual Group title and definition is a device used to provide an appropriate location in which users can temporarily classify new or emerging occupations, prior to their formal inclusion in the classification structure. The code number for a Seven-digit Residual Group always ends in "99", and its title will usually consist of the work "OTHER", followed by the title of its Unit Group; for example, 8793-199 OTHER STRUCTURAL METAL ERECTORs. Because it relates to more than one occupation, a Seven-Digit Residual Group title does not have an industry designation, nor is it assigned occupational characteristics (GED, SVP, PA, EC, DPT). When this type of title and definition is used, it will always appear as the last one in its Unit Group.
5. Special Unit Groups There are three groups of occupations which have been given special treatment at the unit level of aggregation, although strictly speaking they are not "residual" groups. Like a Residual Group, however, each of these three groups can be readily identified by a unique code number:
- (a) Supervisors and Foremen/women have a four-digit code number ending in "0", such as Unit Group 8260 — Foreman/woman, Textile Processing Occupations.
  - (b) Inspectors, Testers, Graders and Samplers have a four-digit code number ending in "6", as in Unit Group 7516 — Log Inspecting, Grading, Scaling and Related Occupations.
  - (c) Labourers and Other Elemental Workers can be easily identified by a unique four-digit code number ending in "8"; for example, Unit Group 8148 — Occupations in Labouring and Other Elemental Work, Metal Processing.
6. Special n.e.c. Groups There are certain Minor and Unit Groups with the designation "n.e.c." included in their title, but which do not have a code number ending in "9"; for example, Unit Group 8395 — Patternmakers and Mouldmakers, n.e.c. The n.e.c. designation is included to indicate that Unit Group 8395 is not the only group for workers who make patterns and moulds.

There is one further type of group used in the CCDO. This is the Sub-Group, which stands somewhat apart as being neither a Major, Minor or Unit Group, nor a Residual Group. In some instances, it proves useful to arrange occupations that could logically be grouped together into Sub-Groups within the Unit Group. Sub-Groups have descriptive titles, and while they indicate the range of occupational code numbers contained, they are neither separately numbered nor defined. An example of sub-grouping can be found within Unit Group 8215 — Slaughtering and Meat Cutting, Canning, Curing and Packing Operations. This Unit Group has three Sub-Groups of related occupations, arranged as usual in a descending order of complexity as determined by training time requirements:

1. Slaughtering and Meat Cutting Occupations
8215-110 through 8215-178

2. Meat Preparing, Preserving and Packing Occupations
8215-198 through 8215-310
3. Edible and Inedible By-Products Processing Occupations
8215-330 through 8215-362

It will be noted that an interval of twenty is provided between CCDO code numbers, to allow for future occupational developments: 8215-178 to 8215-198; 8215-310 to 8215-330.

TYPES OF OCCUPATIONAL TITLES

An occupational title represents, in a word or phrase, what people do for a living, the activity in which they are engaged, their principal business, calling, pursuit or employment. Obviously, brevity and clarity are major determining factors of a useful occupational title. To assist in the expression of occupational activity in a concise but meaningful form, a number of different types of titles have been used in the CCDO:

1. The CCDO Title
2. Additional Titles
3. The Seven-Digit Residual Group Title
4. The Master Title
5. The Term Title
6. The General Title

1. The CCDO Title The occupational title accompanying each description is the CCDO Title, which is the title having the most common usage, or which is most descriptive of the work activity. It identifies the type of work described in the occupational description, and is printed in bold-face, upper-case font, preceded by the CCDO Code Number, and followed by the appropriate industry designation(s):

8715-150 TRACK PATROLLER (rail trans.)

The CCDO Title is located in the Alphabetical Index to each Major Group book, as well as in the CCDO Index which forms a part of this GUIDE.

2. Additional Titles are simply other titles by which an occupation may be known, and are provided to assist in the identification and location of an occupation. This proves useful for those occupations which are known by different names in different parts of the country, or which are found in a number of industries. An Additional Title may also be supplied to reflect a more specific work situation than that expressed by the CCDO Title. For example, by referring to the alphabetical indices it can be seen that burglar-alarm servicer and fire-alarm servicer are Additional Titles to the CCDO Title 8735-142 PROTECTIVE-SIGNAL SERVICER (telecom.). Note that Additional Titles are printed in bold-face, lower-case font, and appear with a seven-digit code number and industry designation.
3. The Seven-Digit Residual Group Title is not a true occupational title, as it has not been assigned occupational characteristics. However, it has been assigned its own unique code number, and it differs from the CCDO Title by being prefaced with the word "OTHER", and by not having an industry designation. The Seven-Digit Residual Group Title is printed in the same script as is the CCDO Title: 8793-199 OTHER STRUCTURAL METAL ERECTORS.
4. The Master Title Each Master Title has a definition describing duties which are common to a relatively large number of occupations. Reference to a Master Title in an occupational description or Unit Group definition therefore eliminates constant repetition, and so serves as a single source of information for specific occupations with common work elements or duties. Since a Master Title is not in itself a unique occupation, but rather describes duties that are common to a number of different jobs or disciplines, the usual seven-digit occupational code number has been replaced by a five-digit identification number: for example, 01-250 SUPERVISOR; FOREMAN/WOMAN (any ind.). The initial digits (01-) designate a Master Title, and the terminal digits (-250) place the title within the classification system of Master Titles. A complete listing of Master Titles, together with their definitions, industry designations and code numbers is included in this GUIDE.

5. The Term Title Each Term Title has a definition describing such factors as work performed or conditions which are common to occupations having the same generic title, such as "Assistant" or "Helper". Reference to a Term Title in an occupational description enables the reader to view the relationship between the defined occupation and other occupations which share the same generic title. Each occupational description that refers to a Term Title definition is complete in itself, but the information contained in the Term Title definition provides useful supplementary information.

Refer to the occupational description for 8799-262 FLOOR-COVERER HELPER (construction), and it will be noticed that the last sentence of the statement of duties makes reference to 02-160 HELPER (any ind.). Like the Master Title, a Term Title is assigned an industry designation, and it has its own five-digit identification number beginning with -02. Once again, the terminal digits are used to place the title within the classification system of Term Titles. A complete listing of Term Titles, together with their definition, industry designations and code numbers is included in this GUIDE.

As a word of caution, if a Unit Group definition refers to a Term Title, then it is not referred to in the occupational description itself. It is important to read the Unit Group definition first, before proceeding to the occupational descriptions.

6. The General Title may be given to an occupation in which a worker performs duties common to a number of occupational specialties. The word GENERAL appears in the title for all general definitions; however, use of this word in titles is not limited to this application; for example, 3131-130 NURSE, GENERAL DUTY (medical) is not a general title. General titles have an industry designation and a code number, and are given the same occupational characteristics coding as CCDO titles. When a general title is used in conjunction with a series of CCDO definitions, the definitions of each of these titles includes a reference, immediately following the lead statement, to the duties as described in the general title definition; for example, refer to 2143-122 AIRPORT ENGINEER (prof. & tech., n.e.c.).

SPECIAL OCCUPATIONAL CATEGORIES

For a number of reasons, it proved advantageous to give particular treatment in the classification structure to certain groups of occupations:

1. Managerial Occupations
2. Supervisor and Foremen/women Occupations
3. Technologist and Technician Occupations
4. Inspecting, Testing, Grading and Sampling Occupations, and Regulatory Occupations
5. Labourer/Elemental Worker Occupations
6. Other Special Occupational Categories

1. Managerial Occupations Managerial occupations have been given special consideration largely because of the ambiguous nature of the title "Manager", a term which can be applied to occupations with duties so dissimilar in nature as to have little meaning within the context of the CCDO. For example, the "manager" of a little corner store has little occupational activity common to the "manager" of a nationwide chain of stores. Moreover, the use of such titles as "General Manager", "Superintendent", and "Director" further complicate the distinct identification of managerial occupations. For this reason, managerial occupations will usually fall into one of four broad categories:

- (a) General Managers
- (b) Departmental and Related Managers
- (c) Supervisors and Foremen/women
- (d) Managers of Wholesale, Retail and Service Establishments

(a) The General Managers represent senior management, and are responsible for planning, organizing, staffing, directing and controlling the functions of an organization. Since they make policy and coordinate the activities of various departments, they are, in essence, the managers' manager.

(b) Departmental and Related Managers The managers of a department, a regional office, or a project are representative of middle management. They report to and receive their instructions from the general manager, and will usually administer their operations through subordinate managers or supervisors. Managers at the departmental level are usually involved in activities related to a number of Major and Minor Groups of occupations. Therefore, a special Major Group was created for the classification of these managerial occupations. Within this Major Group (Major Group 11), managerial occupations which are unique to government are separated from other managerial occupations. It was also necessary to provide for the classification of occupations which are directly related to management. Thus, this Major Group has three Minor Groups:

- 111 OFFICIALS AND ADMINISTRATORS
UNIQUE TO GOVERNMENT
- 113/114 OTHER MANAGERS AND ADMINISTRATORS
- 117 OCCUPATIONS RELATED TO MAN-AGEMENT AND ADMINISTRATION

(c) Supervisors and Foremen/women In large organizations, neither the general manager nor the departmental managers directly supervise the activities of workers. This is normally the responsibility of the supervisors or foremen/women, who represent the first level of line management. Occupations which are identified as foremen/women and supervisory occupations, including managing supervisors, are normally classified in Special Unit Groups in the same Minor Groups as the workers whom they supervise. These Special Unit Groups can be identified by four-digit code numbers ending in "0".

(d) Managers of Wholesale, Retail and Service Establishments which are not departmentalized normally perform duties similar to those of supervisors; however, they have important additional responsibilities in such areas as planning and financing. These occupations are designated as "managing supervisors", and are classified with supervisors (in the appropriate Unit Groups) of Major Groups 51- SALES OCCUPATIONS and 61- SERVICE OCCUPATIONS. The expression "managing supervisor" is used to refer to occupations which are not managerial in the sense described in the definition for the Master Title 01-170 MANAGER (prof. and tech., n.e.c.), but which have duties and responsibilities that include those of a supervisor and, to a limited extent, those of a manager.

There are three exceptions to the classification of managers of wholesale, retail and service establishments:

- (i) Managers of chains of wholesale, retail and service establishments, whose activities extend to all establishments in the chain, are regarded as "General Managers", and are classified in Unit Group 1130 - GENERAL MANAGERS AND OTHER SENIOR OFFICIALS.
- (ii) Managers of large departmentalized wholesale, retail and service establishments belonging to a chain are classified as Managers in Unit Group 1137 - SALES AND ADVERTISING MANAGEMENT OCCUPATIONS, and in Unit Group 1142 - SERVICE MANAGEMENT OCCUPATIONS. These managers implement policy determined by head-office management.
- (iii) Managers of large departmentalized wholesale, retail and service establishments which do not belong to a chain are classified as Managers in Unit Group 1130 - GENERAL MANAGERS AND OTHER SENIOR OFFICIALS. Such managers lack direction from a headquarters office, and so are responsible for their own policy-making and implementation.

To further facilitate the identification and classification of managerial occupations, reference is frequently made in the appropriate Unit Group definitions to the following Master Titles and definitions:

- |        |  |
|--------|--|
| 01-090 | GENERAL MANAGER (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)  |
| 01-170 | MANAGER (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)          |
| 01-180 | MANAGING SUPERVISOR (any ind.)*          |
| 01-250 | SUPERVISORS AND FOREMEN/WOMEN (any ind.) |

*The last paragraph of this definition introduces the Term Title 02-450 WORKING PROPRIETOR (any ind.). This title reflects an economic status, rather than work performed, so that working proprietors are treated as managing supervisors, managers, or general managers according to work functions, and are classified in their appropriate Unit Groups.

Similarly, tradesmen/women and professionals who, in addition to their regular duties also perform some managerial functions, are classified according to their primary functional duties: thus a barber in charge of his shop would be classified as a barber.

2. Supervisor and Foremen/women Occupations A clear distinction is made in the CCDO, on the basis of work performed, between supervisors and the workers whom they supervise. The title "FOREMAN/WOMAN" is used when the workers, whose activities are supervised and coordinated, work in occupations concerned with processing, manufacturing, construction and primary industries. The Title "SUPERVISOR" is used to denote the supervisory occupations in all other occupational groups.

By referring to Unit Group 8780 — FOREMEN/WOMEN, OTHER CONSTRUCTION TRADES OCCUPATIONS, several significant aspects of the classification of Supervisors and Foremen/women can be noted:

- (a) In this Unit Group definition, as in most others relating to Supervisors and Foremen/women occupations, reference is frequently made to the Master Title and definition 01-250 SUPERVISOR; FOREMAN/WOMAN (any ind.). This describes significant duties involving administrative supervision and responsibilities common to the occupations within the group.
  - (b) In most cases, a special Unit Group will be assigned to Supervisor and Foreman/woman occupations, with a code number ending in the digit "0".
  - (c) Each Supervisor and Foreman/woman occupation is assigned the usual seven-digit CCDO code number and the appropriate industry designation. However, since most Supervisor and Foreman/woman titles and definitions relate to a variety of occupations within a given Unit Group, they are not assigned occupational characteristics data or qualifications profile ratings. Because Supervisors and Foremen/women are usually engaged in administrative supervision, and do not normally perform any of the duties of the workers under their supervision, they are typically given a DPT designation of 138 (corresponding to Coordinating, Supervising, No Significant Relationship).
  - (d) Professionals who perform supervisory functions in addition to their regular duties are classified according to their primary functional duties.
3. Technologist and Technician Occupations The tremendous technological developments of recent years have created an increased demand not only for scientists and engineers, but also for qualified scientific and engineering support staff. The titles of "Technologists" and "Technician" have come to be applied to many of these support occupations, but with little standardization in the definition and use of the terms. Typically, technologists and technicians perform duties primarily related to the following activities:

Technologists	Technicians
Research	Installation
Development	Operation and Maintenance

Design

Testing and Analysis

Quality Control

Production Planning

Testing and Analysis

Normally, the scientist, engineer or manager is responsible for and qualified in the highest functional levels of these work activities. The technologist and the technician act in support capacities, with the technologist performing more complex duties than the technician.

Technologists usually receive their basic training in post-secondary institutes or colleges, with further specialized on-the-job training required to achieve full occupational competency. Technicians may also receive their basic training in schools or colleges, but some attain full competency by being trained on the job, following the completion of high school. This will obviously affect their GED and SVP ratings, but a GED/SVP rating of 5/7 is typical of a technologist, and a 4/6 rating of a technician. Technologists and technicians generally have a significant relationship to the Data functions of Synthesizing (0), Coordinating (1), Analyzing (2), and Compiling (3), and the Things functions of Setting-Up (0), Precision Working (1), and Operating-Controlling (2). The relationship to the People function is usually incidental as, for instance, when the technologist or technician has some supervisory responsibility. Individual variations in occupational characteristics and qualification profiles will, of course, frequently occur.

Term Titles and definitions are provided, and these give a general description of the type of work performed, and indicate the classification treatment for technologists and technicians. In addition, six Master Titles and definitions have been prepared to assist in describing more specific technologist and technician occupations.

Seven specific Unit Groups have been provided in the classification structure to accommodate many of the technologist and technician occupations. Those who cannot be properly classified in one of these groups are classified in the most appropriate Unit Groups elsewhere in the classification. For example, technologists who are mainly concerned with supervision, instruction or sales are classified as supervisors, instructors or salespersons, respectively.

4. Inspecting, Testing, Grading and Sampling Occupations

Occupations which are primarily concerned with quality control activities in such areas of industry as the processing of raw materials, and the fabrication, assembly and repair of products are commonly called INSPECTORS, TESTERS, GRADERS or SAMPLERS. Occupations of this type are classified in Special Unit Groups within the appropriate Minor Groups, and references to the applicable Term Titles are made in the Unit Group definitions:

- 02-150 GRADER (any ind.)
- 02-170 INSPECTOR (any ind.)
- 02-330 SAMPLER (any ind.)
- 02-430 TESTER (any ind.)

Most Unit Groups for Inspectors, Testers, Graders and Samplers can be identified by a four-digit code number ending in "6", although there are certain exceptions: Unit Groups 1136, 3156, 6116 and 8786 have been used to designate groups other than those relating to Inspectors, Testers, Graders or Samplers. If a Minor Group does not provide a Special Unit Group for Inspectors, Testers, Graders or Samplers, they will then be classified in the Residual Unit Group of the Minor Group, as in 6169-166 CHECKER (laund., clean. & press.).

Regulatory Occupations Two special groups are provided for the classification of Regulatory Occupations:

Regulatory officers and inspectors concerned with enforcing and advising on governmental regulations pertaining to health, safety or other areas of governmental administration are classified in Unit Group 1116 — INSPECTORS AND REGULATORY OFFICERS, GOVERNMENT.

Inspectors and regulatory officers concerned with enforcing and advising on adherence to non-governmental standards and regulations in such areas as quality of service, and observance of company policies and procedures in branch organizations are classified in Unit Group 1176 — INSPECTORS AND REGULATORY OFFICERS, NON-GOVERNMENT.

5. Labourer/Elemental Worker Occupations The title Labourer is used to classify occupations which require the application of common-sense understanding to carry out simple one- or two-step instructions, with little or no training needed for satisfactory work performance. The title ELEMENTAL WORKER may be used for similar occupations which are not, according to custom, referred to as LABOURERS.

Examine the definition for the Term Title 02-190 LABOURER/ELEMENTAL WORKER (any ind.), which describes duties common to labourers and elemental workers. It can be accurately inferred from this definition that the typical Training Time designations for occupations of this type are GED: 1 SVP:1 or 2, although there are a few such occupations with a GED rating of 2. The majority of LABOURER/ELEMENTAL WORKER occupations consist of tasks which are normally elementary or physical in nature. Consequently, the relevant worker functions, and their numerical equivalents are:

DATA	PEOPLE	THINGS
Copying (5)	Speaking- Signalling (6)	Feeding- Offbearing (6)
Comparing (6)	Serving (7)	Handling (7)

LABOURER/ELEMENTAL WORKER occupations are classified in Special Unit Groups within the Minor Group in which they would logically be found. The Unit Group is identified by a four-digit code number ending in "8", and the Unit Group definition will refer to the Term Title 02-190 LABOURER/ELEMENTAL WORKER (any ind.). If the logical Minor Group does not provide a Special Unit Group for LABOURERS AND ELEMENTAL WORKERS, they are then classified in Unit Group 9918 — OCCUPATIONS IN LABOURING AND OTHER ELEMENTAL WORK, N.E.C.

6. Other Special Occupational Categories have also been given special treatment in the CCDO classification structure:

- a. Apprentices
- b. Helpers
- c. Assistants
- d. Cadets
- e. Machinery Set-Up Occupations
- f. Oiling and Greasing Occupations
- g. Armed Forces Personnel
- h. Nurses-in-Training

A thorough knowledge of Term Titles and definitions is essential to the understanding of these special occupational categories.

- (a) Apprentices An apprentice is a learner of an occupation who performs some of the journeyman's/woman's duties. The nature and scope of the duties which apprentices may perform will vary according to the level of training they have reached. Apprentices are classified in the same Unit Group as the journeyman/woman for the occupation in which they are being trained, and usually immediately follow the journeyman/woman in the classification structure. Only reference definitions are provided for apprentices but they are assigned their own occupational code number. The Term Title and definition for 02-010 APPRENTICE (any ind.) further clarifies the nature of this occupation's classification.

- (b) Helpers Helpers normally work in manufacturing, processing, construction and primary industries in support of more highly qualified workers. They typically perform duties involving a variety of manual functions, and they are clearly subordinate to and under the direction of the worker assisted. Helpers are classified in the appropriate Unit Group according to the kind of work performed. However, if they meet the Training Time requirements for LABOURERS AND ELEMENTAL WORKERS, then Helper occupations are classified in the Unit Group for LABOURERS AND ELEMENTAL WORKERS appropriate to the type of work involved. The Term Title and definition for 02-160 HELPER (any ind.) supplied useful supplementary information.

- (c) Assistants The term "Assistant" has a distinctive meaning in the CCDO. It is applied only to workers who assist others at the professional and managerial level. Assistants perform essentially Data and People related functions, and are clearly subordinate to the worker assisted. Assistants frequently require formal training in the specialization; for example, 3139-110 SURGICAL ASSISTANT (medical). The definition for the Term Title 02-040 ASSISTANT (any ind.) further clarifies the distinction between ASSISTANTS and HELPERS.

- (d) Cadets Cadets are classified in the same Unit Group as are fully-qualified workers in the occupation for which they are being trained. For example, 6112-170 POLICE CADET (gov. serv.) is classified in Unit Group 6112 — POLICEMEN/WOMEN AND DETECTIVES, GOVERNMENT.

- (e) Machinery Set-Up Occupations Machinery set-up men and women are classified in the same Unit Group as the operators or tenders of the machines. If the duties of an occupation require both the setting-up and the repair of machines, the occupation is classified according to the predominant aspect of the work. Examining Unit Group 8584 — INDUSTRIAL, FARM AND CONSTRUCTION MACHINERY MECHANICS AND REPAIRERS will illustrate this, for the Unit Group contains occupations concerned with both the repair and the set-up of machinery.

- (f) Oiling and Greasing Occupations Occupations which are primarily concerned with oiling and greasing machinery and other equipment are classified in Unit Group 8589 — OTHER MECHANICS AND REPAIRERS, N.E.C., except when the work performed is at the level of labouring or elemental work. In this case, the occupation is classified in Unit Group 9918 — OCCUPATIONS IN LABOURING AND OTHER ELEMENTAL WORK, N.E.C.

- (g) Armed Forces Personnel Armed Forces Personnel are classified in two Unit Groups: 6116 — COMMISSIONED OFFICERS, ARMED FORCES, and 6117 — OTHER RANKS, ARMED FORCES. The classification of these occupations is provided for Census use, which excludes the need for seven-digit occupational code numbers, CCDO Titles, and occupational descriptions.

- (h) Nurses-in-Training Student nurses, who are being paid while in training in nursing schools, are classified in Unit Group 3133 — NURSES-IN-TRAINING. This Unit Group is also provided specifically for Census use, and individual CCDO Titles and definitions have not been assigned.

LOCATING OCCUPATIONS IN THE CCDO

To locate a specific occupation in the CCDO, there are two routes of access available. These can be used either singly or together, depending on the circumstances.

1. Locating Occupations Using the Alphabetical Indices of Occupational Titles Use of this method requires the application of four logical steps:

- (a) From the occupational information at hand, identify the most significant factors, and select the most probable title under which the occupation may be listed.
- (b) Search either the CCDO Index or the Index to the appropriate Major Group booklet, and note the CCDO occupational code number to the title selected.
- (c) Use the occupational code number to locate the corresponding occupational description.
- (d) Compare your information with that of the occupational description to assess the nature of the work performed. Confirm your selection.

If the appropriate occupational description cannot be identified through the first title selected, repeat the process using Additional Titles by which the occupation may be known. These may adopt complete or partial inversion. For example, the CCDO Title for a person who applies hot asphalt to roofs is a ROOFER, ASPHALT. The key work, ROOFER, is common to several occupations, and has been placed first, followed by its modifier, ASPHALT. In this way, a mere glance at the Index shows that the CCDO differentiates between ROOFERS according to the type of material used (metal, shingles, wood, tar and gravel). An Additional Title may also be in the form of a synonym for the CCDO Title. For example, a "fastener" might be classified as a cementer, gluer, nailer, riveter or stapler, depending on the material used or the method of fastening employed.

If you experience difficulty at first in locating a specific occupation, remember that occupational titles and duties will not always conform exactly to your individual perception of the nature of the occupation. You may be exaggerating or minimizing the level, duties or scope of a particular occupation, and what you view as a "repairer" might be classified as a repairer's helper, and adjuster, a mechanic or a technician, depending on the type of equipment serviced, and how complex that servicing is.

2. Locating Occupations Using the Major, Minor and Unit Group Code Numbers and Definitions This second route of access to a specific occupation is convenient when not enough occupational information is available to initially select a probable occupational title. The process uses the breakdown of Major, Minor and Unit Group titles and definitions which precede the occupational descriptions in the CCDO. A similar listing is provided in each Major Group book for the applicable Groups. Six steps are required:

- (a) Identify the significant job factors.
- (b) Select the most appropriate Major Group (title, then definition).
- (c) Select the most appropriate Minor Group (title, then definition).
- (d) Select the most appropriate Unit Group (title, then definition).
- (e) Select the most appropriate occupational title from the Unit Group selected.
- (f) Compare your information with that of the occupational description to assess the nature of the work performed. Confirm your selection.

Group definitions will prove to be an invaluable aid in locating occupations by this method. Their use will not only save time, but may occasionally refer to the specific occupation you are seeking. Group definitions also make reference to Master and Term Titles and definitions, and these may further help to locate the occupation matching the significant activities which you have identified.

Your success in locating occupations by either of these methods is determined largely by your ability to identify the significant aspects of an occupation: remember that an occupational description normally describes only those activities which are common to a number of individual occupations. A thorough knowledge of the criteria used to classify occupations will also help a great deal in their location.

(Refer to TYPES OF OCCUPATIONAL TITLES in Introduction for explanation of master titles and definitions and their applications)

01-060 DESIGN ENGINEER (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)

Applies established engineering principles to the design and development of equipment, structures, processes and systems, by performing any combination of the following duties:

Analyzes proposal, product or equipment specifications, and process requirements to conceive a practical design. Determines feasibility from the standpoint of costs, space, time limitations, company plans, availability of standard equipment and other technical and economic factors. Consults with research engineers and scientists, or customer representatives to resolve design problems related to product styling and production planning. Provides technical information concerning construction and manufacturing techniques, material properties, and advantages and limitations affecting plant, product and long range planning. Compiles and analyzes operational data, and directs complex tests to establish standards for new designs or modifications to existing equipment, products or processes. Prepares related installation, operation and maintenance specifications and instructions. Supervises and co-ordinates the work of technologists and technicians who act in direct support of research activities.

01-070 ENGINEERING TECHNICIAN (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)

Carries out a limited number of technical functions in an engineering specialization; such as, chemical, civil, electrical, industrial, mechanical, metallurgical, mining, petroleum, aeronautical or nuclear engineering, primarily in relation to installation, operation and maintenance, quality control and production planning activities, using a basic knowledge of specific engineering, scientific, mathematical and drafting design principles and techniques, by performing any combination of the following duties:

Interprets work assignment instructions, selects and adapts standard procedures, techniques and equipment and establishes work sequence. Prepares, marks, measures or weighs test materials or samples, using various standard techniques and equipment. Estimates time, quantities of material, and labour required for such activities as testing, installation, maintenance, manufacture or construction. Incorporates design details into drawings following specifications for machinery, tools, or processes. Constructs, installs, maintains, repairs, calibrates and modifies standard equipment or systems according to standards, tests or instructions. Adapts and constructs auxiliary devices for tests, and operates standard equipment to test materials, samples and products. Makes calculations and prepares charts, graphs and supporting data for reports.

May assist other technical worker, or perform duties independently.

01-080 ENGINEERING TECHNOLOGIST (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)

Carries out a variety of technological functions in an engineering specialization; such as, chemical, civil, electrical, industrial, mechanical, metallurgical, mining, petroleum, aeronautical, or nuclear engineering, primarily in support of engineering research, development and design activities, using knowledge of engineering, scientific, mathematical and drafting design principles and practices, by performing any combination of the following duties:

Assists engineers and other technical workers in the research, design, and development of products, systems, processes and equipment by analyzing technical problems, co-ordinating the construction of working models, pilot plants and similar prototypes, and by developing and interpreting design specifications for complex equipment and processes. Represents engineers on work or test sites to ensure compliance with design specifications, study objectives and standards relating to production or quality control, and industrial or construction safety. Examines and evaluates assignments, defines problems, determines procedures to arrive at solutions, and schedules work. Obtains or prepares detailed estimates of time, quantities, labour and material costs required for work in such areas as product design, testing of construction, equipment installations, and manufacturing processes. Diagnoses complex equipment or process malfunctions, production or test problems; plans and carries out corrective action or directs other workers in rectifying problems. Conducts work studies and method analyses, and performs statistical calculations necessary for establishing work standards. Interprets and evaluates, at a level below that of the engineer, experimental, test, and other data and prepares reports and recommendations based on evaluations. Oversees and co-ordinates activities of technicians, skilled craftsmen and other workers engaged in various aspects of technical assignments. Assists in the training of less experienced technical workers.

May in some situations work independently of engineers and other technical workers.

01-090 GENERAL MANAGER (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)

Plans, organizes, directs and controls the major functions of an industrial, commercial, governmental, or other establishment through departmental managers and other subordinate executives, and within powers delegated by a directorate, governing body, or official decree, by performing any combination of the following duties:

Establishes organization objectives, formulates and approves policies and programs and sets standards by using knowledge of organization's capacities; analyzing economic, social, technical, legal and other trends; consulting with subordinate managers and executives; and reviewing staff recommendations and reports. Authorizes establishment of major departments and key executive positions, and funds to implement departmental policies and programs. Selects or approves selection of departmental managers and senior staff, delegates authority and approves overall personnel program. Directs, motivates and develops skills of executive and managerial personnel to foster productivity, growth and high morale, exercising leadership ability and using knowledge of management science. Co-ordinates activities of departments or other functional units by utilizing staff conferences, schedule boards, flow charts and other devices, and by developing effective lines of communication. Provides for administration controls, such as reports, audits and inspections. Maintains awareness of developments affecting objectives and policies, and takes initiative in effecting remedial action or needed adjustments, in consultation with executives concerned. Assumes responsibility for products or services of establishment. Represents organization, or delegates representatives in negotiations, at conventions, seminars and other official occasions. Entertains officials, develops liaison with other organizations and frequently sits on charitable, educational or other civic committees, to promote good public relations.

General managers are designated according to the industry in which they work, and frequently, as senior officials, hold appointments, such as, President, Vice-President or Chairman of the Board or other governing body.

01-140 LIFE SCIENCES TECHNICIAN (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)

Carries out a limited number of technical functions in a life sciences specialization; such as, botany, zoology, forestry, horticulture, agriculture or medicine, primarily in relation to biological testing and analysis activities, using a basic knowledge of specific scientific and mathematical principles, and laboratory techniques, by performing any combination of the following duties:

Interprets work assignment instructions, selects and adapts standard procedures, techniques and equipment and establishes work sequence. Takes, prepares, marks, measures or weighs biological specimens, using various standard techniques and equipment. Sets up laboratory, medical and other scientific equipment for experiments, tests, and analyses, and adjusts or aligns equipment as required. Conducts experiments, tests and analyses, and records and organizes observations and conclusions. Makes calculations and prepares charts, graphs and other supporting data for reports.

May assist other technical workers, or perform duties independently.

01-150 LIFE SCIENCES TECHNOLOGIST (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)

Carries out a variety of technological functions in a life sciences specialization; such as, botany, zoology, forestry, horticulture, agriculture or medicine, primarily in support of biological research, testing and analyses activities, using knowledge of scientific and mathematical principles and laboratory practices, by performing any combination of the following duties:

Assists life scientists and other technical workers in design and development of research methods and equipment. Searches reference publications and makes recommendations concerning technical problems. Performs pre-test experiments and analyses, develops design specifications for, and constructs or oversees the construction of special test equipment. Obtains or prepares estimates of time, and costs of quantities of material and equipment for tests, analyses, experiments or other research activities; plans and schedules work. Sets up scientific equipment for experiments, tests and analyses, and calibrates precision equipment as required. Performs quality control tests to ensure reagents and equipment are functioning as specified. Conducts experiments, tests and analyses, requiring a high degree of skill and judgment, and involving a large number of operations with many possible sources of error. Modifies and adapts procedures and equipment as required. Interprets and evaluates test and other data at a level below that of the life scientist; prepares reports and recommendations based on evaluations, and frequently assists life scientists in preparing material for publications.

May in some instances work independently of life scientists and other technical workers.

01-170 MANAGER (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)

Plans, organizes, directs and controls the activities of a department, division, program, regional office or other unit of an industrial, commercial, governmental or other establishment, through subordinates who are at a supervisory level or above and within policies laid down by senior management, by performing any combination of the following duties:

Establishes procedures to implement policies and directives of senior management, and recommends changes in policies to achieve assigned objectives, based on detailed knowledge of the unit's performance capabilities. Prepares and submits financial estimates for approval. Determines organizational structures in his unit, and defines subordinate managerial and supervisory functions. Selects or approves appointment of subordinate staff, and directs their training to ensure efficient usage of personnel and material. Co-ordinates activities within assigned areas and with other departments or units by conferring with other managers or subordinates and utilizing schedule boards, flow charts and similar devices. Reviews effectiveness of assigned operations, enforces regulations, prepares reports, and advises senior management of trends in own operations which may be significant for other units of the organization. Assumes responsibility for operations of his unit. Assists staff with important and difficult administrative or technical problems. Negotiates with specialists, technical consultants and external organizations on matters such as business services and union contracts. Represents organization on boards or committees as a delegated specialist, or in a public relations capacity.

Managers are usually designated according to assigned responsibility in the department or other unit of the organization.

01-180 MANAGING SUPERVISOR (any ind.)

Plans, organizes, directs and controls the operations of an establishment engaged in retail or wholesale trade, or in providing services to the public, to business or other organizations, on own or owner's behalf or in partnership, and supervises and co-ordinates activities of subordinate workers, by performing any combination of the following duties:

Estimates consumer demands, and determines or recommends types and quantities of merchandise or services to be sold, and price and credit policies to be implemented. Defines operating procedures. Plans budget, prepares or supervises preparation of purchase orders for stock and supplies, and authorizes or obtains authorization for expenditures. Establishes layout of premises. Determines staff functions and numbers and hires or arranges for hiring of staff. Assigns duties, sets salaries, and initiates personnel action such as promotions and discharges. Supervises and trains workers, or oversees supervision and training. Co-ordinates activities of workers to ensure efficient operations. Counts and deposits money received, or supervises handling of money, takes or verifies inventories, and keeps accounts and other records. Ensures that safety, health and security regulations are followed. Promotes the sale of establishment goods or services, and approves advertising and display work. Receives and acts on customer complaints. Confers with workers or their representatives to resolve grievances and other employee problems.

When operating a small establishment, performs some or all of the duties of the workers. When operating an establishment on own behalf or in partnership, is commonly known as a WORKING PROPRIETOR. See term title definition, 02-450 WORKING PROPRIETOR, for method of classification. Managing supervisors, including working proprietors are designated according to merchandise or services offered for sale, or type of establishment operated.

Carries out a limited number of technical functions in a physical sciences specialization; such as, physics, chemistry, geology, geophysics, meteorology or astronomy, normally in relation to operation and maintenance, and quality control activities, using a basic knowledge of specific scientific and mathematical principles and laboratory techniques, by performing any combination of the following duties:

Interprets work assignment instructions, selects and adapts standard procedures, techniques and equipment, and establishes work sequence. Prepares, marks, measures or weighs test materials or samples, using various standard techniques and equipment. Sets up laboratory and other scientific equipment for experiments, tests, and analyses and adjusts or aligns equipment as required. Conducts experiments, tests and analyses and records and organizes observations and conclusions. Makes calculations and prepares charts, graphs and other supporting data for reports.

May assist other technical workers, or perform duties independently.

01-220 PHYSICAL SCIENCES TECHNOLOGIST (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)

Carries out a variety of technological functions in a physical sciences specialization; such as, physics, chemistry, geology, geophysics, meteorology, or astronomy, primarily in support of research activities, using knowledge of scientific and mathematical principles and laboratory practices, by performing any combination of the following duties:

Assists physical scientists and other technical workers in design and development of research methods and equipment, by searching reference publications, making recommendations concerning technical problems, performing pre-test experiments and analyses, and by developing design specifications for, and constructing or overseeing the construction of, special test equipment. Obtains or prepares estimates of time and costs, of quantities of material and equipment for tests, analyses, experiments or other research activities. Plans and schedules work. Sets up scientific equipment for experiments, tests and analyses, and calibrates precision equipment as required. Conducts experiments, tests and analyses, requiring a high degree of skill and judgment, and involving a large number of operations with many possible sources of error. Modifies and adapts procedures and equipment as required. Interprets and evaluates experimental, test and other data at a level below that of the physical scientist; prepares reports and recommendations based on evaluations, and frequently assists physical scientists in preparing material for publications.

May in some situations work independently of physical scientists and other technical workers.

01-230 SALESPERSON (ret. trade; whole. trade)

Sells merchandise to individuals from sales floor and at customer's home or place of business, applying knowledge of characteristics, quality and merit of items sold, by performing any combination of the following duties:

Talks to customer on sales floor or elsewhere to ascertain his wants, and follows up initial contact, by phone or in person, to solicit business. Displays merchandise, shows descriptive material and demonstrates article, emphasizing saleable features. Advises customer on care and use of article. Estimates or quotes prices, credit terms, trade-in allowances and delivery date. Prepares sales slip or sales contract. Receives payment or obtains credit authorization. Prepares reports of business transactions and keeps expense accounts. Sets up displays of merchandise in window or on sales floor. Prepares inventory of stock, and requisitions merchandise from stockroom or warehouse.

Salesmen are usually designated according to product sold.

01-250 SUPERVISOR; FOREMAN/WOMAN (any ind.)

Supervises and co-ordinates activities of workers engaged in one or more occupations, by performing any combination of the following duties:

Studies assignments, determines manpower requirements, and estimates materials and supplies needed for completion of work. Establishes methods to meet work schedules, using knowledge of capacities of workers, machines and equipment. Requisitions materials and supplies as indicated. Hires and assigns duties to workers, recommends or initiates personnel actions, such as promotions, transfers, discharges, and disciplinary measures, and maintains personnel and attendance records. Trains or arranges for the training of workers and explains company policies. Sets up machines and equipment and interprets work orders, specifications or technical drawings. Initiates or suggests plans to motivate workers to achieve goals. Co-ordinates activities of own workers and confers with other supervisors, foremen/woman and/or superiors to avoid conflicts with other units or departments. Ensures that quality of work meets standards, inspects materials received, and enforces safety regulations. Analyzes and resolves work problems. Prepares and submits production, progress or other reports. Recommends measures to improve work methods, equipment performance, quality of product or service, and working conditions. Confers with workers or their representatives to resolve complaints and grievances.

When supervising workers engaged in one occupation, is usually required to be adept in activities under supervision. When supervising workers engaged in several occupations, is required to possess general knowledge of activities involved. Supervisors and/or foremen/woman are designated according to type of work supervised, process involved, craft of workers supervised, product manufactured or industry in which work occurs. A working supervisor and/or foreman/woman, commonly known as a GROUP LEADER, or LEAD HAND, who primarily performs the same duties as the workers supervised, is identified by the same occupational title as the workers.

TERM TITLES AND DEFINITIONS

(Refer to TYPES OF OCCUPATIONAL TITLES in Introduction for explanation of term titles and definitions and their applications)

02-010 APPRENTICE (any ind.)

A term used to describe a worker who is bound by contractual agreement to serve an employer for a specified period of time, with a view to learning a craft or trade in which the employer is obligated to instruct him:

In general, the contract sets out the minimum number of hours of training required to complete the apprenticeship and outlines wage increases throughout the program on the basis of a graduated minimum scale. An apprentice follows a program of on-the-job, and related classroom and shop training lasting about one to four years and leading to a prescribed level of competence in an occupation. Apprenticeship programs are usually under the guidance of an advisory committee representing management, labour and government. Entry age and educational levels, health standards and training requirements vary with the apprenticed occupation and frequently are specified by provincial legislation. An apprentice is usually between the ages of sixteen and twenty-five. In some provinces, an older worker with background experience in a trade may be accepted as a 'mature apprentice'. Credit may be given for previous related experience or training. Normally, the successful completion of eight to twelve years schooling is required before commencing apprenticeship. An examination on all phases of training usually terminates the program, and successful completion results in the receipt of a certificate of apprenticeship. Workers who complete an apprenticeship program may be required to obtain licenses or pass certification examinations before being permitted to practise their trade.

Apprentices are classified in the same unit group as the occupations for which they are being trained.

02-040 ASSISTANT (any ind.)

A term used to describe a worker who directly assists another or other workers at the professional and managerial levels, by performing essentially DATA- and PEOPLE- related functions that are clearly subordinate to those of the worker assisted, but which frequently require formal training in the assistant specialization:

Excluded are the following who should be designated and classified as indicated: A worker who performs duties closely related to those of the worker assisted and who on occasion may assume the authority and responsibilities of the worker assisted should be assigned the same title and classification as the worker assisted. A worker who has been designated as an assistant by an establishment because his work fulfils an operational support function, but who does not directly assist other workers, should be assigned a title more indicative of the work performed and classified accordingly. A worker who directly assists a professional such as one engaged in a scientific, engineering, mathematical or drafting design field by performing essentially DATA-AND THINGS- related functions may be designated and classified as a TECHNICIAN or TECHNOLOGIST.

A worker who performs routine, primarily manual duties in direct support of a more competent processing, manufacturing, construction and primary industry worker may be designated and classified as a HELPER. See term title definition 02-160 HELPER.

02-070 CHIEF ENGINEER (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)

A term used to describe an engineer who uses the principles and methods of management to supervise and co-ordinate the technical or administrative activities of other engineers, technologists, technicians and tradesmen:

The workers supervised are concerned with such activities as research, design, development, evaluation, manufacture and repair of machinery, components, tools and equipment; and with related methods, procedures and processes in governmental, industrial and business establishments.

Chief engineers are usually classified in the same unit group as the engineers they supervise.

02-090 CONSULTANT (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)

A term applied to a worker who utilizes expertise and knowledge of a specialized field of activity to evaluate and recommend improvements in the practice of that specialization in a commercial, industrial, governmental or other organization, by performing any combination of the following duties:

Analyzes objectives, policies, methods and procedures relating to specializations; such as, product administration, labour relations, public relations and safety standards. Devises tests, prepares flow charts, conducts interviews and examines records and other data to determine degree to which objectives are being achieved. Prepares reports and recommendations for modification and changes in policies, methods and procedures to improve efficiency. Assists with implementation of recommendations by such means as revising procedures, and preparing and conducting retraining sessions.

Consultants are designated according to title of specialization, such as, ENGINEERING CONSULTANT, PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT CONSULTANT, and EDUCATIONAL SPECIALIST. These occupations are classified in the unit group with the worker, in the same field of specialization, who performs functions of a non-consulting nature, or, when such a unit group does not exist, in Unit Group 1179 - OCCUPATIONS RELATED TO MANAGEMENT AND ADMINISTRATION, N.E.C.

02-130 ENGINEER (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)

A term used to describe a worker who plans, designs and develops equipment, machines, products, systems and processes, using scientific and engineering principles, to serve human needs and desires:

Engineers must possess qualifications acquired through formal training and work experience which normally lead to legal certification by appropriate licensing authorities. Engineers are classified according to the discipline in which the individual is most active, such as, aeronautical, agricultural, electrical, electronic, chemical, civil, mechanical, metallurgical, mining, marine and structural engineering. Engineers primarily engaged in managerial, teaching or sales activities are classified in the appropriate Major Group according to work performed.

02-150 GRADER (any ind.)

A term used to describe a worker who classifies and sorts materials and products according to established quality-control standards:

Examines materials and products by sight, touch, taste or smell, or by the use of scales or gauges, and grades them according to such standards as weight, size, colour or general condition. Grades foodstuffs such as grains, fruits, vegetables, meat, eggs and cheese. Grades other products such as tobacco, lumber, diamonds, leather and fur.

Graders are usually designated according to the product graded, and are normally classified in unit groups for INSPECTING, TESTING, GRADING AND SAMPLING OCCUPATIONS.

02-160 HELPER (any ind.)

A term used to describe a worker who supports another worker of a higher level of expertise in an occupation, by performing a combination of more routine, essentially manual duties, such as the following:

Conveys and holds materials and tools for worker aided, and uses hand or power tools or appliances in a helping capacity. Transports materials, tools, and supplies to and from worksite, using wheelbarrows, hand trucks, hoists, powered equipment and similar devices. Prepares surfaces and mixes materials for the use of the worker aided, and cleans, mounts, places, or assembles parts or objects. Performs routine tasks related to installation, set-up, maintenance or dismantling of machines and equipment. Tends or feeds machines and equipment, offbears materials or parts and performs operating adjustments as directed. Takes samples for analysis, keeps work records, or performs other related tasks.

A worker who can perform his work independently of another worker is not a HELPER, and is designated and classified according to the work performed. HELPERS are classified in the appropriate unit group according to work performed.

02-170 INSPECTOR (any ind.)

A term used to describe a worker who critically examines any of a variety of goods, services or operations for conformity to established quality, health, safety, legal, business, ethical or other standards, by performing any combination of the following duties:

Examines raw materials for quality and manufactured items for defects and for conformance to specifications, visually and using sample models and instruments; such as, scales, gauges, templates, calipers and micrometers. Verifies that established standards are maintained relative to such matters as food-growing, processing and marketing; product-packaging; storage and transportation methods; buildings and facilities; and business practices, operations and services. Affixes seals or tags to approved items, issues or revokes licences and permits or ascertains that licences and permits have been obtained and are displayed. Confers with officials, interprets regulations and codes, and assists establishments in altering methods and practices to meet established standards. Investigates complaints and violations, prepares reports of findings and action taken or recommended, files charges and testifies in court. Recommends changes in standards, administrative procedures, facilities, methods and practices.

Inspectors are normally identified according to product, item or service inspected. Typical titles are: PAPER INSPECTOR (pulp & paper); WELD INSPECTOR (mach., weld. & forg.). Inspectors in the fields of processing, machining, fabricating and assembling materials, goods or products are classified in unit groups for INSPECTING, TESTING, GRADING, AND SAMPLING OCCUPATIONS. Inspectors and Regulatory Officers concerned with enforcing and advising on governmental health, safety or other regulations are classified in Unit Group 1116, INSPECTORS AND REGULATORY OFFICERS, GOVERNMENT. Inspectors and Regulatory Officers concerned with enforcing and advising on adherence to non-governmental standards and regulations in such areas as quality of service and observance of company business policies and procedures, are classified in Unit Group 1176, INSPECTORS AND REGULATORY OFFICERS, NON-GOVERNMENT.

02-180 INTERN (medical)

A term used to describe a person who performs medical duties for a specified length of time in hospitals, approved for internship; to gain training and practical experience immediately following graduation from medical school, and to meet licensing requirements for the practice of medicine.

Interns are classified in Unit Group 3111, PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

02-190 LABOURER/ELEMENTAL WORKER (any ind.)

A term used to describe a worker who performs one or more uncomplicated tasks, usually physical in nature, involving such functions as feeding-offbearing and handling materials and objects, which may require the use of simple tools or equipment:

In the performance of his duties may be required to speak to, signal or serve other persons and carry out simple data-related functions such as copying and comparing. Applies common sense understanding to carry out tasks in standardized situations with occasional or no variables in or from these situations. Normally, these tasks require only simple demonstration, instruction or explanation in preparation for average performance on the job, though in some instances training may last a few days.

Many occupations that are classified in unit groups entitled, 'OCCUPATIONS IN LABOURING AND OTHER ELEMENTAL WORK' are not designated by the title LABOURER, but by titles which are more descriptive of the work performed, such as, PACKAGER, HAND (any ind.) and MOULD FILLER (plastic prod.; rubber). Workers designated as LABOURERS or ELEMENTAL WORKERS, who perform a combination of uncomplicated tasks, such as those of a LABOURER, GENERAL, may be required to carry out tasks involving a few concrete variables in standardized situations.

02-240 MANUFACTURER'S SERVICE REPRESENTATIVE (any ind.)

A term used to describe a worker who utilizes a knowledge of mechanical, hydraulic and electrical principles and the manufacturer's specifications, to provide service in the installation, operation and repair of equipment in customer's establishment, by performing any combination of the following or similar duties:

Consults with staff in manufacturer's engineering department to resolve problems of machine design, and to avoid construction and installation problems in customer's establishment. Studies drawings or blueprints to familiarize himself with equipment operation. Oversees installation of equipment in customer's establishment. Operates machine through trial runs to ensure that quality and rate of production meet specifications. Trains customer's personnel in operating, adjusting, maintaining and repairing equipment. Consults with customer about deviation of equipment operation from original specifications, and explains reasons for changes. Repairs or supervises repair of worn or defective equipment in customer's establishment.

Manufacturer's service representatives are classified in unit groups which reflect the nature of service provided and type of equipment serviced.

02-280 NOTARY PUBLIC (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)

A term used to describe a worker who performs any combination of the following legal-service duties as prescribed by a commission issued by provincial government:

Witnesses, certifies and attests the validity of signatures on documents. Takes and certifies acknowledgement or proof of powers of attorney, mortgages, deeds, and other legal documents. Takes depositions and affidavits for use before court, judge or officer within jurisdiction. Administers oaths and affirmations. Keeps permanent records of official acts.

Workers whose regular duties include those described above are classified in Unit Group 2343 - LAWYERS AND NOTARIES. Workers who perform duties of the term title, 02-280 NOTARY PUBLIC (prof. & tech., n.e.c.), in addition to the duties of another occupation, are classified according to their principal occupation.

02-310 RESEARCH ENGINEER (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)

A term used to describe an engineer who, in co-operation with scientists and other engineers, engages in basic and applied research activities, directed toward the investigation, evaluation and application of engineering and scientific theories and principles to practical problems:

Conducts studies in areas, such as, pre-stressed concrete construction, high-pressure instrumentation, supersonic flight, operation of continuous chemical processes at high and low pressures and temperatures, radar, colour television and electronic computation and control. Consults with other engineers and scientists regarding the development and improvement of new or existing products, services or production processes. Follows the studies from inception, through the drafting phase, to the production of the prototype or model and the preparation of technical reports. Supervises and co-ordinates the work of technologists and technicians who act in direct support of his research activities.

Research engineers are classified in the appropriate engineering unit group according to work performed.

02-320 RESIDENT PHYSICIAN OR SURGEON (medical)

A term used to describe a physician or surgeon who performs medical duties for a specified length of time, following graduation from medical school and internship, in a hospital approved for residency requirements to gain advanced graduate education and practical experience in a particular branch of medicine or surgery, or in family medicine, as a requirement for certification as a specialist.

Resident physicians or surgeons are classified in Unit Group 3111, PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

02-330 SAMPLER (any ind.)

A term used to describe a worker who collects samples of raw or processed materials for laboratory analysis and quality-control purposes, performing duties such as the following:

Collects samples by dipping, scooping, pouring or cutting. Marks samples with identifying information and sends them to laboratory. Weighs, pulverizes, screens and/or blends materials from various collection points to provide representative samples.

Samplers are normally designated according to the material sampled, and are classified in unit groups for INSPECTING, TESTING, GRADING AND SAMPLING OCCUPATIONS.

02-350 SCIENTIST (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)

A term used to describe a worker who conducts investigations or enquiries to acquire a theoretical, abstract or practical knowledge of physical and natural phenomena:

States problems and frames questions which are capable of yielding significant facts, theories, laws and concepts, and tests hypotheses through observation, investigation or experimentation.

Scientists are classified according to the discipline in which the individual is most active; such as, chemistry, physics, geology, meteorology, geography, metallurgy, agriculture, zoology, botany and pharmacology.

02-380 SQUAD MAN/WOMAN (any ind.)

A term used to describe a worker who is trained, in all phases of manufacturing within a specific industry, through a company-oriented training program to identify and develop supervisory and executive talent in individuals:

Substitutes for absentees, as needed, to keep departments fully-manned in emergencies. Conducts assigned studies, in areas of specialized training, for production problem identification, analysis, documentation and preparation of reports. Investigates and studies alternate methods and procedures and, upon approval, institutes and conducts programs to modify existing production procedures. Participates as a member of a team of specialists to inaugurate production with new installations.

Squad men are normally designated by the industry in which they work, and are classified in the appropriate supervisor/foreman or managerial unit group according to work performed.

02-410 TECHNICIAN (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)

A term used to describe a worker who performs a limited number of technical functions in a physical science, life science or engineering specialization, primarily in relation to installation, operation and maintenance, quality control, production planning or biological testing and analysis activities, using a basic knowledge of specific scientific, mathematical or engineering and drafting design principles and practices:

Interprets work-order assignments, selects and adapts standard procedures, techniques and equipment and establishes work sequence. Takes, prepares, marks, measures or weighs test materials, or samples, using a variety of techniques and equipment. Sets up scientific equipment and conducts experiments, tests and analyses, or constructs, installs, maintains, repairs, calibrates or modifies industrial or other equipment. Makes calculations and prepares charts, graphs and other supporting data for reports.

May assist other technical workers or perform duties independently.

Reference should be made to the following unit groups for classification possibilities of technologists and technicians: 2117, PHYSICAL SCIENCES TECHNOLOGISTS AND TECHNICIANS; 2135, LIFE SCIENCES TECHNOLOGISTS AND TECHNICIANS; 3156, MEDICAL LABORATORY TECHNOLOGISTS AND TECHNICIANS; 3155, RADIOLOGICAL TECHNOLOGISTS AND TECHNICIANS; 3157, DENTAL HYGIENISTS, ASSISTANTS AND TECHNICIANS; 2165, ARCHITECTURAL AND ENGINEERING TECHNOLOGISTS AND TECHNICIANS; 2353, TECHNICIANS IN LIBRARY, MUSEUM AND ARCHIVAL SCIENCES. Other technicians are classified in the same unit group as the worker assisted, or according to work performed. Workers who directly assist another or other workers at the professional and managerial levels are designated as ASSISTANTS provided that they perform essentially DATA- and PEOPLE- related functions. Assistants frequently require formal training in the occupational specialization and their functions are clearly subordinate to those of the worker assisted. Those workers who perform inspecting and testing functions at levels of complexity higher or lower than those specified for technologists and technicians may be classified in unit groups for scientific and engineering, or inspecting and testing occupations respectively.

02-420 TECHNOLOGIST (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)

A term used to describe a worker who performs a variety of technological functions in a physical science, life science or engineering specialization, primarily in support of research, development and design activities, using knowledge of scientific, mathematical or engineering and drafting design principles and practices:

Assists scientists, engineers and other technical workers in developing research methods and equipment, and designing and developing products, systems, processes and industrial equipment. Obtains or prepares estimates of time and material cost for research tests, analyses and experiments or for work projects or processes. Sets up scientific equipment and conducts experiments, tests and analyses. Diagnoses complex equipment or process malfunctions, and production or test problems, and carries out corrective action. Interprets and evaluates, at a level below that of the engineer or scientist, test and other data, and prepares reports and recommendations based on findings.

May in some situations work independently of engineers and scientists.

Reference should be made to the following unit groups for classification possibilities of technologists and technicians: 2117, PHYSICAL SCIENCES TECHNOLOGISTS AND TECHNICIANS; 2135, LIFE SCIENCES TECHNOLOGISTS AND TECHNICIANS; 3155, RADIOLOGICAL TECHNOLOGISTS AND TECHNICIANS; 3156, MEDICAL LABORATORY TECHNOLOGISTS AND TECHNICIANS; 2165, ARCHITECTURAL AND ENGINEERING TECHNOLOGISTS AND TECHNICIANS. Other technologists are classified in the same unit group as the worker assisted, or according to work performed. Workers who directly assist another or other workers at the professional and managerial levels are designated as ASSISTANTS provided that they perform essentially DATA- and PEOPLE- related functions. Assistants frequently require formal training in the occupational specialization and their functions are clearly subordinate to those of the worker assisted. Those workers who perform inspecting and testing functions at levels of complexity higher or lower than those specified for technologists and technicians may be classified in unit groups for scientific and engineering, or inspecting and testing occupations respectively.

02-430 TESTER (any ind.)

A term used to describe a worker who conducts routine tests on materials, components, machines or equipment to determine physical or chemical characteristics, or to verify conformity to specifications or functional standards, by performing any combination of the following duties in a laboratory or at a test bench:

Takes, prepares, marks, measures or weighs various samples, prior to conducting tests. Tests materials to determine physical or chemical characteristics, using laboratory test equipment. Tests electric or electronic components and equipment to verify conformity to specifications, using various electric or electronic testing equipment. Operates machines or equipment to test performance, and makes routine adjustments as required. Records test results. Marks approval on acceptable units, and returns defective units for re-working.

Testers are normally identified according to material or unit tested. Typical titles are: PULP TESTER (pulp & paper); SPRING TESTER (mach., weld. & forg.; metal fab., n.e.c.). Testers in the fields of processing, machining, fabricating and assembling materials, goods or products are normally classified in unit groups for INSPECTING, TESTING, GRADING, AND SAMPLING OCCUPATIONS. These workers who perform a number of technical functions including testing at levels of complexity higher than that specified for testers may be classified in unit groups for scientific and engineering, or technologist and technician occupations.

02-450 WORKING PROPRIETOR (any ind.)

A term used to describe a worker who operates an establishment, on own behalf or in partnership:

Performs duties as described under the master titles, 01-090 GENERAL MANAGER (prof. & tech., n.e.c.); 01-170 MANAGER (prof. & tech., n.e.c.) or 01-180 MANAGING SUPERVISOR (any ind.), depending upon size and complexity of organization operated. When operating a small establishment, performs some or all of the duties of the workers.

Working proprietors are normally designated according to merchandise or services offered for sale, type of establishment or business operated, or professional, technical, craft or service function exercised. Working proprietors in sales and services who perform duties as described under the master title, 01-180 MANAGING SUPERVISOR (any ind.) are classified in the supervisor unit groups in Major Group 51, Sales Occupations and 61, Service Occupations, respectively. Working proprietors in sales and services who perform duties as described under the master titles, 01-090 GENERAL MANAGER (prof. & tech., n.e.c.) and 01-170 MANAGER (prof. & tech., n.e.c.) are classified in Major

Group 11, MANAGERIAL, ADMINISTRATIVE AND RELATED OCCUPATIONS. Working proprietors found outside of Major Group 51, 61 and 11, are classified in the appropriate supervisory unit group of an appropriate minor group, or in the workers' unit group, if a supervisory unit group does not exist.

General Education Development

The following is a table explaining the various levels of general educational development:

Level	Reasoning Development	Mathematical Development	Language Development
6	Apply principles of logical or scientific thinking to a wide range of intellectual and practical problems. Deal with non-verbal symbolism (formulas, scientific equations, graphs, musical notes, etc.) in its most difficult phases. Deal with a variety of abstract and concrete variables. Apprehend the most abstruse classes of concepts.	Apply knowledge of advanced mathematical and statistical techniques such as differential and integral calculus, factor analysis, and probability determination, or work with a wide variety of theoretical mathematical concepts and make original applications of mathematical procedures, as in empirical and differential equations.	Comprehension and expression of a level to -Report, write, or edit articles for such publications as newspapers, magazines, and technical or scientific journals. Prepare and draw up deeds, leases, wills, mortgages, and contracts. -Prepare and deliver lectures on politics, economics, education, or science. -Interview, counsel, or advise such people as students, clients, or patients, in such matters as welfare eligibility, vocational rehabilitation, mental hygiene or marital relations. -Evaluate engineering technical data to design buildings and bridges.
5	Apply principles of logical or scientific thinking to define problems, collect data, establish facts, and draw valid conclusions. Interpret an extensive variety of technical instructions, in books, manuals, and mathematical or diagrammatic form. Deal with several abstract and concrete variables.
4	Apply principles of rational systems to solve practical problems and deal with a variety of concrete variables in situations where only limited standardization exists. Examples of "principles of rational systems" are: Bookkeeping, internal combustion engines, electric wiring systems, house building, nursing, farm management, ship sailing. Interpret a variety of instructions furnished in written, oral, diagrammatic, or schedule form.	Perform ordinary arithmetic, algebraic, and geometric procedures in standard, practical applications.	Comprehension and expression of a level to -Transcribe dictation, make appointments for executive and handle his personal mail, interview and screen people wishing to speak to him, and write routine correspondence on own initiative. -Interview job applicants to determine work best suited for their abilities and experience, and contact employers to interest them in services of agency. -Interpret technical manuals as well as drawings and specifications, such as layouts, blueprints, and schematics.
3	Apply common sense understanding to carry out instructions furnished in written, oral, or diagrammatic form. Deal with problems involving several concrete variables in or from standardized situations.	Make arithmetic calculations involving fractions, decimals and percentages.	Comprehension and expression of a level to -File, post, and mail such material as forms, cheques, receipts, and bills. -Copy data from one record to another, fill in report forms, and type all work from rough draft or corrected copy. -Interview members of household to obtain such information as age, occupation, and number of children, to be used as data for surveys, or economic studies. -Guide people on tours through historical or public buildings, describing such features as size, value, and points of interest.
2	Apply common sense understanding to carry out detailed but uninvolved written or oral instructions. Deal with problems involving a few concrete variables in or from standardized situations.	Use arithmetic to add, subtract, multiply, and divide whole numbers.
1	Apply common sense understanding to carry out simple one- or two-step instructions. Deal with standardized situations with occasional or no variables in or from these situations encountered on the job.	Perform simple addition and subtraction, reading and copying of figures, or counting and recording.	Comprehension and expression of a level to -Learn job duties from oral instructions or demonstration. -Write identifying information, such as name and address of customer, weight, number, or type of product, on tags, or slips. -Request orally, or in writing, such supplies as linen, soap, or work materials.

APPENDIX B

Specific Vocational Preparation

Specific vocational preparation includes training given in any of the following forms:

a. University or College Training:

Training given by a degree granting institution and for which a degree, diploma, or certificate is issued. The average four-year university or college curriculum (except for liberal arts which is not vocationally oriented) is considered as equivalent to about two years of specific vocational preparation. Each year of university graduate schooling is regarded as one year of specific vocational preparation.

b. Vocational Training:

Training given by a vocational school or a non-degree granting college intended to develop general or specific skills, such as commercial, shop, or art training. In evaluating vocational training of this nature, thirty hours of such schooling is regarded as about fifteen hours of specific vocational preparation.

c. Apprenticeship:

Training given for an apprenticeable occupation.

d. In-Plant Training:

Training given or sponsored by an employer either on or off his own premises, intended as preparation for a specific job in his plant.

e. On-The-Job Training:

Any training acquired while serving as a learner or trainee on the job under instruction of a qualified worker, and intended as preparation for a specific job.

f. Experience in Other Jobs:

Experience acquired while serving in less responsible jobs, or serving in other jobs, which prepares a worker for a specific job at a higher grade.

ESTIMATING THE LEVEL OF SPECIFIC VOCATIONAL PREPARATION

The following is an explanation of the various levels of specific vocational preparation:

Level	Time	Level	Time
1	Short demonstration only.	5	Over 6 months up to and including 1 year.
2	Anything beyond short demonstration up to and including 30 days.	6	Over 1 year up to and including 2 years.
3	Over 30 days up to and including 3 months.	7	Over 2 years up to and including 4 years.
4	Over 3 months up to and including 6 months.	8	Over 4 years up to and including 10 years.
		9	Over 10 years.

APPENDIX C

Environmental Conditions (EC)

Environmental Conditions are defined as the physical surroundings of a worker in a specific occupation.

1. Work Location (inside, outside, or both): This factor appears as an initial (I, O, or B) on an occupational description.

Inside (I): Protection from weather conditions but not necessarily from temperature changes. An occupation is considered “inside” if the workers spend approximately 75 per cent or more of their time inside.

Outside (O): No effective protection from weather. An occupation is considered “outside” if the workers spend approximately 75 per cent or more of their time outside.

Both (B): Inside and outside. An occupation is considered “both” if the workers’ activities occur inside and outside in approximately equal amounts.

2. Extremes of Cold Plus Temperature Changes:

- a. Extremes of Cold: Temperature sufficiently low to cause marked bodily discomfort unless the worker is provided with exceptional protection.

- b. Temperature Changes: Variations in temperature which are sufficiently marked and abrupt to cause noticeable bodily reactions.

3. Extremes of Heat Plus Temperature Changes:

- a. Extremes of Heat: Temperature sufficiently high to cause marked bodily discomfort unless the worker is provided with exceptional protection.

- b. Temperature Changes: Same as 2.b.

4. Wet and/or Humid: Contact with water or other liquids, and/or atmospheric conditions with moisture content sufficiently high to cause marked bodily discomfort.

5. Noise and/or Vibration: Sufficient noise, either constant or intermittent, to cause marked distraction or possible injury to the sense of hearing.

6. Hazards: Situations in which the individual is exposed to the definite risk of bodily injury.

7. Atmospheric Conditions: Fumes, odours, toxic conditions, dust, and poor ventilation.

Fumes: Smoky or vaporous exhalations, usually odorous, thrown off as the result of combustion or chemical reaction.

Odours: Noxious smells, either toxic or non-toxic.

Toxic Conditions: Exposure to toxic dust, fumes, gases, vapours, mists, or liquids which cause general or localized disabling conditions as a result of inhalation or action on the skin.

Dust: Air filled with small particles of any kind, such as textile dust, flour, wood, leather or feathers, and inorganic dust including silica and asbestos, which make the workplace unpleasant or are the source of occupational diseases.

APPENDIX D

Physical Activities (PA)

Physical Activities express both the physical requirements of the occupation and the physical capacities a worker must have to meet these requirements.

- 1 - Strength (Sedentary, Light, Medium, Heavy, Very Heavy Work): This factor appears as an initial (S, L, M, H, or VH) in an occupational description.

Sedentary Work (S): Lifting 10 lbs. maximum and occasionally lifting and/or carrying such articles as docket, ledgers, and small tools. Although a sedentary occupation is defined as one which involves sitting, a certain amount of walking and standing is often necessary in carrying out some duties. Occupations are sedentary if walking and standing are required only occasionally and other sedentary criteria are met.

Light Work (L): Lifting 20 lbs. maximum with frequent lifting and/or carrying of objects weighing up to 10 lbs. Even though the weight lifted may be only a negligible amount, an occupation is in this category (a) when it requires walking or standing to a significant degree, or (b) when it involves sitting most of the time with a degree of pushing and pulling of arm and/or leg controls.

Medium Work (M): Lifting 50 lbs. maximum with frequent lifting and/or carrying of objects weighing up to 20 lbs. Consideration of (b) under "light work" may apply here.

Heavy Work (H): Lifting 100 lbs. maximum with frequent lifting and/or carrying of objects weighing up to 50 lbs.

Very Heavy Work (VH): Lifting objects in excess of 100 lbs. with frequent lifting and/or carrying of objects weighing 50 lbs. or more.

Note: The descriptions given for the five degrees of Factor 1 make reference to the terms "Lifting, Carrying, Pushing, and Pulling". These four terms are the primary "strength" physical requirements, and generally speaking, a worker who is engaged in one of these activities can be engaged in all. These activities can be defined as follows:

Lifting: Raising or lowering an object from one level to another (includes upward pulling).

Carrying: Transporting an object, usually holding it in the hands or arms or on the shoulder.

Pushing: Exerting force upon an object so that the object moves away from the force (includes slapping, striking, kicking, and treadle actions).

Pulling: Exerting force upon an object so that the object moves toward the force (includes jerking).

- 2 - Climbing and/or Balancing: For climbing, the emphasis is placed upon body agility; for balancing, it is placed upon body equilibrium.

Climbing: Ascending or descending ladders, stairs, scaffolding, ramps, poles, ropes, and the like, using the feet and legs and/or hands and arms.

Balancing: Maintaining body equilibrium to prevent falling when walking, standing, crouching, or running on narrow, slippery, or erratically moving surfaces; or maintaining body equilibrium when performing gymnastic feats.

- 3 - Body Dexterity: The skill and ease in using body members.

Stooping: Bending the body downward and forward by bending the spine at the waist.

Kneeling: Bending the legs at the knees to come to rest on the knee or knees.

Crouching: Bending the body downward and forward by bending the legs and spine.

Crawling: Moving about on the hands and knees or hands and feet.

Standing: Standing at a work station for a substantial part of the work day.

Sitting: Sitting for a substantial part of the work day.

Walking: Moving about on foot.

Reclining: Reclining the body in a horizontal position.

4 - Reaching, Handling, Fingering, and/or Feeling: These activities involve the use of one or both the upper extremities.

Reaching Above Shoulder: Extending the hands and arms in any direction above the shoulder.

Reaching Below Shoulder: Extending the hands and arms in any direction below the shoulder.

Handling: Seizing, holding, grasping, turning, or otherwise working with the hand or hands (fingering not involved).

Fingering: Picking, pinching, or otherwise working primarily with the fingers (rather than with the whole hand or arm as in handling).

Feeling: Perceiving such attributes or objects and materials as size, shape, temperature, or texture, by means of receptors in the skin, particularly those of the finger-tips.

5 - Talking: Expressing or exchanging ideas by means of the spoken word. Talking is important for those activities in which the individual must impart oral information to clients or to the public, and in those activities in which he must convey detailed or important instructions to other employees accurately, loudly, or quickly.

6 - Hearing: Perceiving the nature of sounds by the ear. Hearing is important for those activities which require the ability to receive detailed information through oral communication, or to make fine discriminations in sound.

7 - Seeing: Obtaining impressions through the eyes of the shape, size, distance, motion, colour, or other characteristics of objects. The component factors are:

Normal Vision: Vision required to do a job satisfactorily.

Acuity, Far: Clarity of vision at 20 feet or more.

Acuity, Near: Clarity of vision at 20 inches or less.

Depth Perception: Three-dimensional vision. The ability to judge distance and space relationships so as to see objects where and as they actually are.

Accommodation: Adjustment of the lens of the eye to bring an object into focus. This component factor is especially important when doing near-point work at varying distances from the eye.

Colour Vision: The ability to identify and distinguish colours.

Field of Vision: The area that can be seen up and down, or to the right or left, while the eyes are fixed on a given point.

8 - Controls: Operating machinery requiring the use of body members and eye-hand-foot coordination.

Hand-Arm: Controlling the operation of machinery using only hand(s) and arms(s).

Foot-Leg: Controlling the operation of machinery using only the leg(s) and one or both feet.

Eye-Hand-Foot Coordination: Controlling the operation of machinery requiring the coordination of movement of the hand and foot with each other in accordance with visual stimuli.

APPENDIX E

Worker Functions in Relation to Data, People and Things (DPT)

The various kinds of functions are identified and defined on the following pages. They appear in three groups arranged in each instance from the relatively simple to the more complex at the top in such a manner that each successive function attempts to include those that are simpler and exclude the more complex. As each of the functions listed in the following table may represent a range of complexity, and because of the limited number of functions in each group, their arrangement should not be considered as precisely hierarchical. For these reasons, the CCDO exercises caution in their use as verb forms in occupational descriptions.

The three broad categories of functional relationships to Data, People, and Things are as follows:

DATA (1st digit)	PEOPLE (2nd digit)	THINGS (3rd digit)
0 Synthesizing	0 Mentoring	0 Setting-Up
1 Co-ordinating	1 Negotiating	1 Precision Working
2 Analyzing	2 Instructing	2 Operating-Controlling
3 Compiling	3 Supervising	3 Driving-Operating
4 Computing	4 Diverting	4 Manipulating-Operating
5 Copying	5 Persuading	5 Tending
6 Comparing	6 Speaking-Signaling	6 Feeding-Offbearing
7 .....	7 Serving	7 Handling
8 No Significant Relationship	8 No Significant Relationship	8 No Significant Relationship

DATA: Information, knowledge, and conceptions related to Data, People and Things, obtained by observation, investigation, interpretation, visualization and mental creation; incapable of being touched. Written data take the form of numbers, words and symbols; other data are ideas, concepts and oral verbalization.

0 Synthesizing: Integrating analyses of data to discover facts and/or develop knowledge, concepts or interpretations.

1 Co-ordinating: Determining time, place, and sequence of operations or action to be taken on the basis of analysis of data; executing determinations and/or reporting on events.

2 Analyzing: Examining and evaluating data. Presenting alternative action in relation to the evaluation is frequently involved.

3 Compiling: Accumulating information which is usually recorded physically, but which may be stored mentally; gathering, collating, or classifying information about Data, People and Things. Reporting and/or carrying out a prescribed action in relation to the information is frequently involved.

4 Computing: Performing arithmetic operations and reporting on and/or carrying out prescribed action in relation to them. Does not include counting.

5 Copying: Transcribing, entering, or posting data.

6 Comparing: Understanding the readily observable functional, structural, or compositional characteristics (whether similar to or divergent from obvious standards) of Data, People, and Things.

* The functional digit 7 in the Data Table has not been used in this edition of the CCDO.

PEOPLE: Human beings; also includes animals dealt with on an individual basis.

0 Mentoring: Dealing with individuals in terms of their total personality in order to advise, counsel and/or guide them with regard to problems that may be resolved by legal, scientific, clinical, spiritual and/or other professional principles.

1 Negotiating: Exchanging ideas, information and opinions with others to formulate policies and programs and/or arrive jointly at decisions, conclusions or solutions.

2 Instructing: Teaching subject matter to others or training others (including animals) through explanation, demonstration and supervised practice; or making recommendations on the basis of technical disciplines.

3 Supervising: Determining or interpreting work procedures for a group of workers, assigning specific duties to them, maintaining harmonious relations among them and promoting efficiency.

4 Diverting: Entertaining others.

5 Persuading: Influencing others in favour of a product, service, or point of view.

6 Speaking-Signaling: Talking with and/or signaling people to convey or exchange information. Includes giving assignments and/or directions to helpers or assistants, but excludes ordinary conversation.

7 Serving: Attending to the needs or requests of people or animals, or the expressed or implicit wishes of people. Immediate response is involved.

THINGS: Inanimate objects as distinguished from human beings; substances or materials; machines, tools, or equipment; products. A thing is tangible and has shape, form, and other physical characteristics.

0 Setting Up: Adjusting machines or equipment by replacing or altering tools, jigs, fixtures and attachments to prepare them to perform their functions, change their performance, or restore their proper functioning if they break down. Workers who set up one or a number of machines for other workers or who set up and personally operate a variety of machines are included here.

1 Precision Working: Using body members and/or tools or work aids to work, move, guide or place objects or materials in situations where ultimate responsibility for the attainment of standards occurs and selection of appropriate tools, objects, or materials, and the adjustment of the tool to the task require exercise of considerable judgment.

2 Operating-Controlling: Starting, stopping, controlling and adjusting the progress of machines or equipment designed to fabricate and/or process objects or materials. Operating machines involves setting up the machine and adjusting the machine or material as the work progresses. Controlling equipment involves observing gauges, dials and other indicators, and turning valves and other devices to control such factors as temperature, pressure, flow of liquids, speed of pumps, and reactions of materials. Set-up involves several variables and adjustment is more frequent than in tending.

3 Driving-Operating: Starting, stopping and controlling the actions of machines or equipment for which a course must be steered or which must be guided, in order to fabricate, process, and/or move things or people. Involves such activities as observing gauges and dials; estimating distances and determining speed and direction of other objects; turning cranks and wheels; pushing clutches or brakes; and pushing or pulling gear shifts or levers. Includes such machines as cranes, conveyor systems, tractors, furnace-charging machines, paving machines and hoisting machines. Excludes manually-powered machines, such as handtrucks and dollies, and power-assisted machines, such as electric wheelbarrows and handtrucks.

4 Manipulating-Operating: Using body members, tools, or special devices to work, move, guide, or place objects or materials requiring the use of hand tools or special devices. Requires a significant combination of eye-hand co-ordination, and manual and finger dexterity. Involves some latitude for judgment with regard to precision attained and selection of appropriate tool, object or material, although this is readily manifest.

5 Tending: Starting, stopping, and observing the functioning of machines and equipment. Involves adjusting materials or controls of the machine, such as changing guides, adjusting timers and temperature gauges, turning valves to allow flow of materials and flipping switches in response to lights. Little judgment is involved in making these adjustments.

6 Feeding-Offbearing: Inserting, throwing, dumping, or placing materials in or removing them from machines or equipment which are automatic or tended or operated by other workers.

7 Handling: Using body members, hand tools and/or special devices to work, move, or carry objects or materials. Involves little or no latitude for judgment with regard to attainment of standards or in selecting appropriate tool, object or material.

APPENDIX F

Aptitude Factors and Definitions

- G. Intelligence: General learning ability. The ability to “catch on” or understand instructions and underlying principles. Ability to reason and make judgements.
- V. Verbal: Ability to understand meanings of words and ideas associated with them, and to use them effectively. To comprehend language, to understand relationship between words and to understand meanings of whole sentences and paragraphs. To present information or ideas clearly.
- N. Numerical: Ability to carry out arithmetic processes quickly and accurately.
- S. Spatial: Ability to think, visually of geometric forms and to comprehend the two dimensional representation of three-dimensional objects. The ability to recognize the relationships resulting from the movement of objects, in space. May be used in such tasks as blueprint reading and in solving geometry problems. Frequently described as the ability to “visualize” objects of two or three dimensions, or to think visually of geometric forms.
- P. Form Perception: Ability to perceive pertinent detail in objects, or in pictorial or graphic material. To make visual comparisons and discriminations and see slight differences in shapes and shadings of figures and widths and lengths of lines.
- Q. Clerical Perception: Ability to perceive pertinent detail in verbal or tabular material. To observe differences in copy, to proofread words and numbers, and to avoid perceptual errors in arithmetic computation.
- K. Motor Coordination: Ability to coordinate eyes and hands or fingers rapidly and accurately in making precise movements with speed. Ability to make a movement response accurately and quickly.
- F. Finger Dexterity: Ability to move the fingers, and manipulate small objects with the fingers, rapidly or accurately.
- M. Manual Dexterity: Ability to move the hands easily and skillfully. To work with the hands in placing and turning motions.
- E. Eye-Hand-Foot Coordination: Ability to move the hand and foot coordinately with each other in accordance with visual stimuli. (Not measured by GATB).
- C. Colour Discrimination: Ability to perceive or recognize similarities or differences in colours, or in shades or other values of the same colour. To identify a particular colour, or to recognize harmonious or contrasting colour combinations, or to match colours accurately. (Not measured by GATB).

Interest Factors and Definitions

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| 1. Dealing with things and objects.   | vs. 6. Dealing with people and communicating ideas.                                    |
| 2. Business contact with people.  | vs. 7. Scientific and technical work.  |
| 3. Routine, concrete and organized work.  | vs. 8. Abstract and creative work or experiences.                                      |
| 4. Working for people for their presumed good as in the social welfare sense, or for dealing with people and language in social situations. | vs. 9. Non-social work, carried on in relation to processes, machines, and techniques. |
| 5. Work resulting in prestige or the esteem of others.  | vs. 0. Work leading to satisfaction from tangible results.                             |

Temperament Factors and Definitions

1. A variety of duties often characterized by frequent change.
2. Repetitive or short-cycle operations carried out according to set procedures or sequences.

3. Doing things only under specific instructions, allowing little or no room for independent action or judgement in working out job problems.
4. The direction, control, and planning of an entire activity or the activities of others.
5. Dealing with people in actual job duties, beyond giving and receiving instructions.
6. Working alone and apart in physical isolation from others, although activity may be integrated with that of others.
7. Influencing people in their opinions, attitudes, or judgements about ideas or things.
8. Performing adequately under stress when confronted with the critical or unexpected or taking risks.
9. The evaluation (arriving at generalizations, judgements, or decisions) of information against sensory or judgmental criteria.
0. The evaluation (arriving at generalizations, judgements, or decisions) of information against measurable or verifiable criteria.
- X. The interpretation of feelings, ideas, or facts in terms of personal viewpoint.
- Y The precise attainment of set limits, tolerances, or standards.

It must be remembered that none of the qualification profile factors (aptitudes, interests, temperaments) are absolute: they must not be regarded as cut-off points governing the acceptance or rejection of an individual as being a suitable candidate for a particular occupation.

INDEX SECTION

INTRODUCTION

The new CCDO Index is a large but highly functional arrangement of job and occupational titles. Studies have revealed that using the original Alphabetical Index of Occupational Titles was the most common method of locating occupations. However, most users found the 1971 Index to be a complex and confusing affair, so the new CCDO Index has been both simplified and greatly expanded. For the first time it is comprised of job titles as well as occupational titles. It now totals some 27,000 titles, or almost double the number of entries found in the 1971 Index. All of the original occupational titles have been included, with the exception of those found to be obsolete. Many new titles have been added as a result of revisions to certain Major Groups in the past year, and many additional job and occupational titles have been acquired through a variety of sources, the most important of which has been Statistics Canada. Numerous users have provided information on previous discrepancies, such as obsolete or incorrectly classified titles, and it is our earnest hope that such contributions will continue. Any information which might help to maintain the accuracy and precision of the CCDO and its Index may be directed to:

Canadian Classification and dictionary of Occupations System,
Department of Manpower and Immigration,
OTTAWA, Ontario. K1A 0J9

Users of the CCDO who are unable to locate a specific occupation or its title may direct enquiries to the same address, observing the following procedures:

1. Indicate the originator's name, address and telephone number;
2. Commence all communications with subject heading: "Coding Enquiry";
3. Give the job title(s) by which the occupation is known;
4. Indicate the industry;
5. Outline the job duties;
6. Describe the education and experience normally required to perform these duties.

Replies to coding enquiries will be made without delay.

Titles "discovered" as a result of coding enquiries will appear in the next annual edition of the CCDO INDEX.

While the new Index is much larger than its predecessor, it has also been made simpler and more convenient to use. Only two types of occupational titles are now listed, these being the official CCDO Title and "Additional Titles".

The CCDO Title (previously identified as the Base Title) is the title by which an occupation is most commonly known in Canada, or which is most descriptive of the nature of the occupation. Printed in bold-face, upper-case font, the CCDO Title appears with the appropriate industry designation(s) and seven-digit code: e.g. FEATHER RENOVATOR (laund., clean. & press.) 6198-154. The CCDO Title is now the only occupational title to appear with the occupational description in the revised CCDO.

"Additional Titles" is the collective term given to all previous alternate, related, inverted and example titles, as well as the various job titles which are now included. These are simply titles by which an occupation may be known in different parts of the country in a variety of industries. An Additional Title may also be supplied to reflect a more specific work situation than that expressed by the CCDO Title. For example, 8735-142 PROTECTIVE-SIGNAL SERVICER (telecom.) has such Additional Titles as Burglar-Alarm Servicer and Fire-Alarm Servicer. An Additional Title may serve the further function of assisting the user to locate occupations whose titles have been changed so that they are no longer sex-discriminatory. Such previous titles as REPAIRMAN and FOREMAN now appear as Additional Titles to the CCDO Titles replacing them, REPAIRER and FOREMAN/WOMAN. Like the CCDO Titles, Additional Titles appear with the appropriate industry designation(s) and seven-digit code number, but they are printed in bold-face, lower-case font:

asphalt-spreader operator (construction) 8713-114

Additional Titles appear in both the CCDO Index and in the indices to the Major Group books, but they are not included in the occupational descriptions. Industry Designations and their abbreviations is also included. Entries in upper-case font are actual industry designations, and those in lower-case font are inversions provided to assist the user in their identification and location.

In the last part of the CCDO Index, definitions are provided for each of the 95 Industry Designations.

CCDO INDEX OF JOB/OCCUPATIONAL TITLES

DEFINITIONS OF INDUSTRY DESIGNATIONS

The following descriptions of industry designations are arranged alphabetically by industry title.

AGRICULTURE (agric.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with growing crops and nursery stock; raising and caring for livestock, poultry and other animals; and providing related agricultural services. Activities concerned with veterinary services are designated Professional and Technical Services, n.e.c.

AIR AND SPACE-CRAFT MANUFACTURING AND REPAIRING (air & space-craft)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing and repairing aerospace vehicles, parts, engines and accessories. Activities concerned with manufacturing electrical components are designated Electrical Equipment Manufacturing and Repairing; manufacturing electronic components are designated Electronic Equipment Manufacturing and Repairing.

AIR TRANSPORT (air trans.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with transporting passengers and cargo by aircraft; servicing aircraft; and operating airports, flying schools and clubs and support facilities. Activities concerned with repairing aircraft, engines, components and accessories are designated Air and Space-Craft Manufacturing and Repairing.

AMUSEMENT AND RECREATION (amuse. & rec.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with providing amusement and recreation facilities or services such as playgrounds, rinks, racetracks, swimming pools, health and athletic clubs, and community centres; presenting or participating in entertainment such as motion pictures, theatre performances and athletic games or contests; and preparing, training and conditioning participants.

ANIMAL AND VEGETABLE OIL EXTRACTING (animal & veg. oil)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing vegetable, animal and fish oils and by-products, such as linseed oil, bone and fish meal.

ANY INDUSTRY (any ind.)

This designation is applied to activities that are common to four or more industry designations. Some activities of this type might logically be designated "any industry" but are allocated to other specific designations such as "clerical", "machining, welding and forging" or "woodworking". In many cases the "any industry" activities of the workers involved, for example those in material handling, are exactly the same from industry to industry.

ASBESTOS AND MINERAL WOOL PRODUCTS MANUFACTURING (asbestos & min. wool)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing mineral wool from non-metallic materials such as limestone, slag and glass; and manufacturing building materials and other commodities primarily composed of asbestos.

ASPHALT ROOFING MANUFACTURING (asphalt roof.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing asphalt saturated shingles and sidings, roofing felts and sheathings, and smooth-surfaced and mineral-surfaced roll roofings.

BAKERY PRODUCTS (bake. prod.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing biscuits, bread, cakes, crackers, pastries, pretzels and other bakery products. Activities concerned with distributing and selling bakery products are designated Wholesale Trade or Retail Trade.

BANKING AND FINANCE (bank. & finance)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with providing financial services in banks, mortgage and loan companies or similar savings or credit institutions; investment companies; security and commodity exchanges and other financial institutions.

BROADCASTING, MOTION PICTURE AND STAGE PRODUCTION (broadcast., motion pic. & stage)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with producing and broadcasting radio and television programs; producing motion pictures and theatre performances; processing motion picture films; and operating radio and television studios. Activities concerned with transmitting and receiving radio and television signals are designated Telecommunications.

BUSINESS SERVICES (bus. serv.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with providing, for other businesses or individuals, services; such as, auditing, accounting, legal, advertising and data processing; engineering consulting; customs brokerage and management consulting; supplying statistical information; accident prevention associations; security, news clipping, translating and interpreting; collection agencies; public stenography; and telephone answering, mail addressing, blueprinting, lettering and sign painting, and duplicating.

CANNING AND PRESERVING, N.E.C. (can. & preserv., n.e.c.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with canning, freezing, drying and preserving foods, not elsewhere classified; such as, fruits and vegetables and their juice, frozen dinners, soups, jams, jellies, pickles, cider, vinegar and sauces.

CATERING AND LODGING (cater. & lodg.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with providing and maintaining lodging, dining, beverage and catering services; and operating tourist camps.

CEMENT, STONE AND CLAY PRODUCTS MANUFACTURING (cement, stone & clay)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing cement and lime; gypsum, concrete, clay and refractory products; and cutting, shaping and finishing stone for building and other purposes. Activities concerned with using concrete for construction are designated Construction; and quarrying stone is designated Mining and Quarrying.

CHEMICAL MANUFACTURING (chem., n.e.c.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing chemicals and chemical products, not elsewhere classified, for industrial or domestic use, such as fertilizers, synthetic resins, transparent cellulose film, industrial inorganic chemicals, ingredients for paint, insecticides, germicides, adhesives, deodorants, disinfectants, sweeping compounds, polishes and dry cleaning preparations.

CLERICAL (clerical)

This designation is applied to activities providing clerical services such as bookkeeping, stenography, typing, and record keeping; storing, distributing and accounting for materials; and operating various office machines. Activities of a clerical nature that are peculiar to an individual industry are designated accordingly.

CONFECTIONERY MANUFACTURING (confection.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing candies, chocolates, cocoa products, chewing gum and other confectionery, such as salted nuts, stuffed dates and popcorn.

CONSTRUCTION (construction)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with constructing, remodelling and repairing bridges, dams, airports, piers, buildings, highways, streets, pipelines, railways, canals, locks, sewers, tunnels, and waterworks; and wrecking buildings and other structures.

DAIRY PRODUCTS PROCESSING (dairy)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with pasteurizing and bottling milk; and manufacturing dairy products such as cheese, butter, powdered milk, sherbets and ice cream. Activities concerned with distributing and selling dairy products are designated Wholesale Trade or Retail Trade.

DISTILLING, BREWING AND FERMENTING (distill., brew. & ferment.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing alcoholic beverages and ethyl alcohol whether or not the alcohol is ultimately used to make potable spirits. Activities concerned with methyl, butyl and isopropyl alcohols are designated Chemical Manufacturing, n.e.c.

EDUCATION AND TRAINING (educ.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with imparting knowledge and developing skills in schools, colleges, universities, businesses, and governments; providing related services, such as correspondence courses; and operating libraries, museums, archives and other repositories.

ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT MANUFACTURING AND REPAIRING (electric. equip.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing and repairing equipment such as generators, motors, transformers, panel boards, electrical appliances and devices, telephone and telegraph equipment, lighting equipment, batteries, and electrical supplies used in generating, transmitting, distributing, storing and utilizing electrical energy. Activities concerned with manufacturing electronic equipment are designated Electronic Equipment Manufacturing and Repairing; manufacturing industrial refrigeration and air conditioning equipment are designated Mechanical Equipment Manufacturing and Repairing, n.e.c.; and manufacturing electric wire and cable are designated Wire and Wire Products Manufacturing.

ELECTRIC POWER, GENERATING AND DISTRIBUTING (elec. power)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with generating, transmitting and distributing electricity; and constructing and maintaining lines and equipment. Activities concerned with building hydro electric generating stations, including dams and other heavy construction work, are designated Construction.

ELECTRONIC EQUIPMENT MANUFACTURING AND REPAIRING (electronic equip.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing and repairing electronic equipment such as radio and television receivers and transmitters, industrial monitoring and continuous control systems, computers and data processing equipment, power supplies, and electronic test equipment; electronic sub-components such as control panels, printed circuit boards, speakers, antennas and associated wiring and cable harnesses; and manufacturing electronic components such as electron tubes and semi-conductor devices, resistors, capacitors and filters.

EXPLOSIVES AND AMMUNITION MANUFACTURING (explosives)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing explosives, ammunition, solid propellant rocket fuels, fuses, detonating devices, fireworks and flares.

FEED AND FLOUR MILLING (feed & flour mill.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing animal feeds; mixing and grinding grains; and milling flour and meal. Activities concerned with manufacturing breakfast cereals are designated Food and Beverage Processing, n.e.c.

FISHING (fishing)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with catching or gathering fish, shellfish, marine mammals and other forms of marine life, such as sponges and seaweed from the ocean or inland waters; processing sea products on board ship; operating fish hatcheries; and providing fishery inspection and protection services. Activities concerned with canning and preserving fish on shore, are designated Fish Processing.

FISH PROCESSING (fish process.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with canning, freezing, curing or otherwise processing fish, shellfish and marine vegetation. Activities concerned with manufacturing fish oil and meal are designated Animal and Vegetable Oil Extracting.

FOOD AND BEVERAGE PROCESSING, N.E.C. (food & bev., n.e.c.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing baking and cooking ingredients and foods, not elsewhere classified, such as baking powder, flavouring extracts, syrups, malt, starch and its products, jelly powders, yeast, prepared cocoanut, powdered eggs, health foods, peanut butter, breakfast foods and cereals, coffee, tea, spices, and non-alcoholic beverages. Activities concerned with manufacturing fruit juices and vinegar are designated Canning and Preserving, n.e.c.; and manufacturing sugar syrups are designated Sugar Refining.

FORESTRY AND LOGGING (forest. & log.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with cutting trees and transporting the logs from the forest to further processing or shipping points; operating timber tracts including forest nurseries and reforestation; cultivating Christmas trees; preventing and fighting forest fires; and forest pest control. Activities concerned with growing ornamental trees are designated Agriculture.

FUR GOODS MANUFACTURING AND REPAIRING (fur goods)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing and repairing fur garments, accessories and trimmings. Activities concerned with fur dressing and dyeing are designated Leather Tanning, and Fur Dressing and Dyeing.

FURNITURE MANUFACTURING AND REPAIRING (furn.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing and repairing household, office, plant and store furniture; upholstering; and manufacturing mattresses and springs. Activities concerned with the manufacture of stone furniture are designated Cement, Stone and Clay Products Manufacturing.

GARMENT AND FABRIC MANUFACTURING AND REPAIRING (garment & fabric)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing, dressmaking, tailoring and repairing adults' and children's clothing including foundation garments, hats, caps and gloves and other fabric products such as sheets, draperies and canvas goods. Activities concerned with manufacturing knit gloves and other knit goods are designated Knit Goods Manufacturing; and manufacturing fur garments and accessories are designated Fur Goods Manufacturing and Repairing.

GLASS AND GLASS PRODUCTS MANUFACTURING (glass)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing glass and glass products. Activities concerned with grinding and polishing optical lenses are designated Scientific and Industrial Equipment Manufacturing and Repairing, n.e.c.; spinning glass yarns are designated Synthetic Fibres Manufacturing; and weaving glass fabrics are designated Textile Manufacturing.

GOVERNMENT SERVICES (gov. serv.)

This designation is applied to activities primarily concerned with governmental activities at federal, provincial or municipal level which are not covered by other designations.

HUNTING AND TRAPPING (hunt. & trap.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with hunting and trapping wild animals for commercial purposes; and game propagation and related activities. Activities concerned with catching marine mammals are designated Fishing.

INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE (insur. & real estate)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with underwriting and selling insurance contracts; adjusting insurance claims; and appraising, developing, buying, selling, renting and managing real property.

IRON AND STEEL PROCESSING (iron & steel)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with processing iron ore; manufacturing pig iron and ferro-alloys, steel ingots, and iron or steel castings; rolling steel into sheets; and forming other shapes, including welded and seamless steel pipe and tubing.

JEWELLERY AND PRECIOUS METAL PRODUCTS MFG. AND REPAIRING (jewellery & precious metal prod.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing and repairing articles from precious metals; lapidary work; cutting, polishing and mounting precious stones; plating with precious metals; engraving; and manufacturing costume jewellery.

KNIT GOODS MANUFACTURING (knit goods)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing knitted tubular or flat fabrics and shaped garments such as outerwear, underwear, gloves and hosiery. Activities concerned with manufacturing other garments are designated Garment and Fabric Manufacturing and Repairing.

LAUNDERING, CLEANING AND PRESSING (laund., clean. & press.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with laundering, dry cleaning, dyeing and pressing clothing and furnishings; and providing towel, coat, uniform and linen supply services.

LEATHER TANNING, AND FUR DRESSING AND DYEING (leather tan. & fur dress.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with tanning, scraping, currying, bleaching, dyeing and finishing hides, pelts, leather and furs.

LINOLEUM AND ALLIED PRODUCTS MANUFACTURING (linoleum prod.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing linoleum, printed felt-base rugs and asphalt, rubber, cork and vinyl tile, and other hard surface floor coverings. Activities concerned with manufacturing other rubber flooring are designated Rubber Products Manufacturing.

LUGGAGE, HANDBAG AND SMALL LEATHER GOODS MFG. AND REPAIRING (leather goods)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing and repairing products made of leather or other materials, not elsewhere classified, such as luggage, handbags, saddlery, small leather goods and similar products. Activities concerned with manufacturing leather gloves are designated Garment and Fabric Manufacturing and Repairing.

MACHINING, WELDING AND FORGING (mach., weld. & forg.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with machining, welding, forging and heat treating metal, except those considered peculiar to a specific industry which are designated accordingly.

MECHANICAL EQUIPMENT MANUFACTURING AND REPAIRING, N.E.C. (mech. equip., n.e.c.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing and repairing refrigeration and air conditioning equipment; industrial, railway and marine engines; office machinery; and other mechanical equipment and machinery, not elsewhere classified, used in such industries as, agriculture, construction, printing, food processing and manufacturing. Activities concerned with manufacturing cutting tools for power driven hand tools and machines are designated Metal Fabricating, n.e.c.

MEDICAL SERVICES (medical)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with providing medical, dental, and hospital care and related services to people. Activities concerned with providing custodial or domiciliary care are designated Social Welfare Services; optician services are designated Retail Trade; and dental laboratory services are designated Scientific and Industrial Equipment Manufacturing and Repairing, n.e.c.

METAL FABRICATING, N.E.C. (metal fab., n.e.c.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing hardware, tools, cutlery, heating equipment, weapons, locks, vaults, metal machinery fittings and springs, and other miscellaneous metal products not elsewhere classified. Activities concerned with manufacturing heating equipment from steel plate are designated Structural, Plate and Ornamental Metal Working.

METAL STAMPING, PRESSING AND COATING (metal stamp., press. & coat.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing and repairing sheet, stamped, pressed or coated metal products; and with electroplating, except with precious metals. Activities concerned with sheet metal work in building construction are designated Construction; and plating with precious metals are designated Jewellery and Precious Metal Products Manufacturing and Repairing.

MINING AND QUARRYING (mining & quarrying)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with prospecting for, and extracting minerals by underground and surface excavation; quarrying and crushing rock; primary processing of non-metallic ores; extracting and screening sand and gravel; extracting and refining salt or potash; and drilling water wells. Activities concerned with drilling and operating petroleum and gas wells are designated Oil and Natural Gas Production.

MISCELLANEOUS PRODUCTS FABRICATING, N.E.C. (misc. prod. fab., n.e.c.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing miscellaneous items, not elsewhere classified, such as brooms and brushes, window shades, advertising signs, musical instruments, beauty and barber shop equipment, umbrellas, tobacco pipes, art goods, buckles, candles, rubber and metal stamps, pens, pencils, and artists' materials. Activities concerned with sign painting and lettering are designated Business Services.

MISCELLANEOUS SERVICES (misc. serv.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with services provided by labour, trade, business, professional and other membership organizations representing groups of employees, employers, trades or professions; political, fraternal, social and community organizations; portrait and commercial photography; film processing; disinfecting and exterminating services; and equipment rental agencies and auctioneering. Activities concerned with motor vehicle rental are designated Motor Vehicle Transport; and processing motion picture films for theatre and television use are designated Broadcasting, Motion Picture and Stage Production.

MOTOR VEHICLE MANUFACTURING AND REPAIRING (motor vehicle)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing, rebuilding and repairing motor vehicles, snowmobiles, freight trailers, mobile homes, vehicle parts, engines and accessories.

MOTOR VEHICLE TRANSPORT (motor trans.)

This designation is applied to public or private company activities concerned with transporting freight and passengers by truck, bus, taxi or hired motor vehicles; and operating terminals, parking lots and garages for the dispatching and storage of motor vehicles.

NON-FERROUS METAL PROCESSING (non-ferrous metal)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with dressing, smelting and refining non-ferrous metallic ores; making non-ferrous metal alloys; processing non-ferrous metals into bars, extrusions, plate, foil, powders, sheets, tubing, castings and other forms; and with recovering non-ferrous materials from scrap.

NON-METALLIC MINERAL PRODUCTS MANUFACTURING, N.E.C. (non-metal. min. prod., n.e.c.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing non-metallic mineral products, not elsewhere classified, such as primary abrasive materials; abrasive grinding wheels, stones, paper and cloths; buffing and polishing wheels; mica products; and expanded vermiculite and roofing granules. Activities concerned with manufacturing petroleum and coal products are designated Petroleum and Coal Products Manufacturing; and manufacturing asbestos products are designated Asbestos and Mineral Wool Products Manufacturing.

OIL AND NATURAL GAS PRODUCTION (oil & nat. gas)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with prospecting for petroleum or natural gas deposits; drilling petroleum or natural gas wells; processing natural gas; producing petroleum from surface or shale sands; and providing services to operate petroleum and natural gas fields.

PAINT AND VARNISH MANUFACTURING (paint & varn.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing paints, varnishes, lacquers, enamels, shellac and associated materials, such as putty, filler and oil stain.

PAPER PRODUCTS MANUFACTURING (paper prod.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing paper products from paper and wood pulp derivatives or in combination with materials such as synthetics or foils.

PERSONAL SERVICES, N.E.C. (pers. serv., n.e.c.)

This designation is applied to activities, not elsewhere classified; concerned with barbering, hairdressing, beautician, undertaking, domestic and related services; shoeshining; steam baths; guiding and escorting; babysitting services; renting clothes; and checking parcels and clothes.

PETROLEUM AND COAL PRODUCTS MANUFACTURING (petrol. & coal prod.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with refining crude petroleum and producing petroleum products; blending lubricating oils and greases; and manufacturing petroleum and coal products such as fuel briquettes, coke, coal gas, road emulsions and roofing compounds.

PHARMACEUTICALS, MEDICINES AND TOILETRIES MANUFACTURING (pharm. & toil.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing pharmaceuticals and medicines including antibiotics, biological products, and veterinary medicines; and toiletries such as perfumes, cosmetics, lotions; toothpastes and hair dressings.

PLASTIC PRODUCTS MANUFACTURING (plastic prod.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with moulding, extruding and fabricating plastic products, articles or parts. Activities concerned with manufacturing vinyl floor coverings are designated Linoleum and Allied Products Manufacturing.

PRINTING AND PUBLISHING (print. & pub.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with commercial or job printing, lithographing, blankbook making, and bookbinding; and publishing books, periodicals or newspapers. Activities concerned with providing blueprinting and duplicating services are designated Business Services. Printing activities, such as those concerned with printing patterns, designs or lettering on cloth and other materials, or stamping or making items, are designated according to the product or service.

PROFESSIONAL AND TECHNICAL SERVICES, N.E.C. (prof. & tech., n.e.c.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with providing professional and technical services, not elsewhere classified, which occur in several industries. Professional and technical activities that are peculiar to a particular industry are designated accordingly.

PULP AND PAPER MANUFACTURING (pulp & paper)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing pulp by mechanical or chemical means; production of paper and paperboard made from either woodpulp or rags; and with barking pulpwood. Activities concerned with manufacturing paper products are designated Paper Products Manufacturing.

RAIL TRANSPORT (rail trans.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with transporting passengers and freight by railroad or urban rail transport; operating railway terminals; maintaining tracks and lines; and providing other support facilities and allied services, such as dining car facilities and policing of railway properties. Activities concerned with repairing railway rolling stock are designated Railway Rolling Stock Manufacturing and Repairing; and railway construction are designated Construction.

RAILWAY ROLLING STOCK MANUFACTURING AND REPAIRING (rail. rolling stock)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing and repairing locomotives, railway cars and electric urban passenger vehicles. Activities concerned with manufacturing and repairing engines for locomotives are designated Mechanical Equipment Manufacturing and Repairing, n.e.c.

RELIGION (religion)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with providing spiritual and moral guidance. Supporting activities are designated according to their principal function.

RETAIL TRADE (ret. trade)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with buying merchandise and selling to the general public for personal or household consumption.

RUBBER PRODUCTS MANUFACTURING (rubber)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing a variety of rubber products including tires and tubes, re-treaded tires, rubber footwear, rubberized fabrics and rubber flooring. Activities concerned with manufacturing synthetic rubber are designated Chemical Manufacturing, n.e.c.; manufacturing rubberized clothing are designated Garment and Fabric Manufacturing and Repairing; and manufacturing rubber tile are designated Linoleum and Allied Products Manufacturing.

SAWMILL (sawmill)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with sawing logs and producing rough and dressed lumber and other products, such as shingles, and cooperage and box stock. Activities concerned with barking of pulpwood are designated Pulp and Paper Manufacturing; and making barrels are designated Woodworking.

SCIENTIFIC AND INDUSTRIAL EQUIPMENT MFG. AND REPAIRING, N.E.C. (scient. & ind. equip., n.e.c.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing and repairing scientific, professional and industrial instruments, apparatus and equipment, not elsewhere classified, including optical instruments, ophthalmic goods and photographic equipment; surgical, medical, and dental apparatus; prosthetic devices; mechanical measuring and controlling instruments; and clocks, watches and timers.

SHIP AND BOAT BUILDING AND REPAIRING (ship & boat bldg.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with building and repairing ships, barges and lighters; and small craft such as power boats, sail boats and canoes. Activities concerned with manufacturing and repairing marine engines are designated Mechanical Equipment Manufacturing and Repairing, n.e.c.

SHOE MANUFACTURING AND REPAIRING (shoes)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing and repairing footwear. Activities concerned with manufacturing rubber footwear are designated Rubber Products Manufacturing.

SLAUGHTERING AND MEAT PACKING (slaught. & meat pack.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with operating abattoirs, and meat and poultry packing plants; butchering; and canning and preparing meats and meat specialties. Activities concerned with making synthetic sausage casings are designated Plastic Products Manufacturing; and producing animal fats and oils are designated Animal and Vegetable Oil Extracting.

SOAP AND CLEANING COMPOUNDS MANUFACTURING (soap)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing soap, synthetic detergents, cleansers, laundry bleaches, bluing, and washing, scouring and cleaning compounds. Activities concerned with manufacturing sweeping compounds and polishes are designated Chemical Manufacturing, n.e.c.

SOCIAL WELFARE SERVICES (social wel.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with providing custodial or domiciliary care in establishments, such as convalescent and rest homes, orphanages, and homes for the aged; providing social welfare services such as those available from children's aid societies and other welfare organizations for the ill, handicapped, young, aged and indigent. Activities concerned with providing custodial or domiciliary care for criminals or delinquents are designated Government Services.

SPORTING GOODS AND TOY MANUFACTURING AND REPAIRING (sport. & toy)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing and repairing sporting goods such as bicycles, fishing tackle, and equipment used in golf, tennis, hockey, baseball, football and other sports; and toys of all kinds.

STORAGE AND WAREHOUSING, N.E.C. (storage, n.e.c.)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with operating grain elevators, and cold storage, warehouse and other storage facilities, not elsewhere classified. Activities concerned with storage of motor vehicles are designated Motor Vehicle Transport; warehouse and storage facilities related to a specific industry are designated accordingly.

STRUCTURAL, PLATE AND ORNAMENTAL METAL WORKING (struct., plate & ornam. metal)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with fabricating structural, plate and ornamental metal for such use as heating and power boilers, tanks, structural metal work for bridges and buildings, fire escapes, metal doors and windows. Activities concerned with erecting and repairing structural, plate and ornamental products are designated Construction; and manufacturing cast iron heating equipment are designated Metal Fabricating, n.e.c.

SUGAR REFINING (sugar)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing cane and beet sugar, sugar syrups, molasses and by-products, such as beet pulp for cattle feed and soil conditioners. Activities concerned with manufacturing corn, maple or other syrups are designated Food and Beverage Processing, n.e.c.

SYNTHETIC FIBRES MANUFACTURING (syn. fibres)

This designation is applied to activities concerned with manufacturing textile fibres, such as those made from cellulose, synthetics or glass.
